This, then, is our story:

It is hard to describe Arkansas State University in a yearbook. ASU's story takes more than a year to tell.

The story begins when a freshman crosses the railroad tracks on Caraway Road and says hello to the institution that he or she will call his for the next four years.

From freshman orientation on, the student's life is intermingled with that of the campus.

As an individual, as an institution and in groups, the campus accepts a dare. It is a dare to grow and to be responsible. It is a dare to expand our facilities to their limits and beyond.

The campus learns to care. It learns to feel for others. It learns to care about situations that face it and to do something about them.

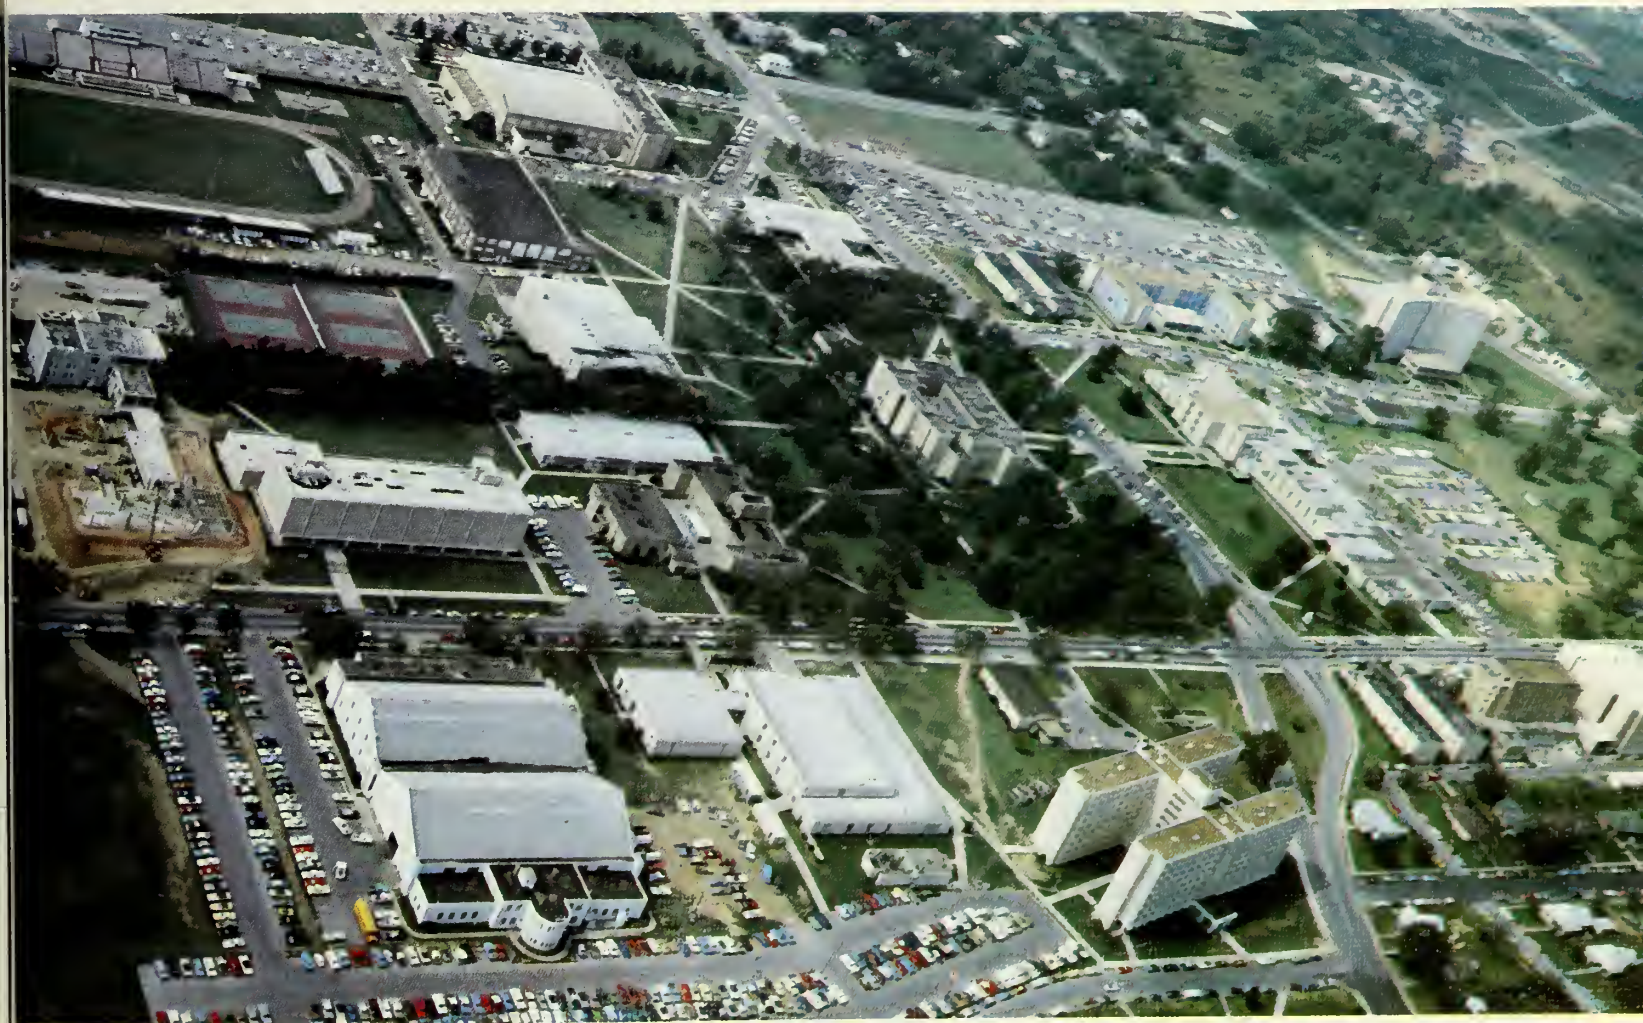

The campus learns to share. It shares its feelings, plans and destinies. All become brothers.

This intermingling is a continuous story. ASU's part in the story ends at graduation. Some will continue the process in their new lives.

That is the way it should be.

This, then, is our story:

"We dare, we care and share awhile, From hello...until good-bye."

Enrollment down

2,723 pre-register

Enrollment for the 1973 fall semester was down around 200 from last fall's figures, with 6,460 enrolled on the last day of registration.

About 2,723 of those student's pre-registered during the previous spring term. This was the second semester and the first fall term that pre-registration was inacted. Benefits from pre-registration proved to be increased time between students and advisers, creation of a relaxed atmosphere and diminished long lines.

Some disadvantages of the new program developed when students taking class cards failed to turn in the cards, leaving holes in class enrollments and the failure of 176 pre-registered students to return for the fall semester.

Freshmen and those not pre-registered (above) still had to stand in line. All students (left) had pictures made for the yearbook. Confused students (right) search for a course to replace one that had closed.

The Queen and her court for 1973-74 were chosen during Black Week. The pageant was February 8, 1974 in the Carl R. Reng Center Ballroom. The eight girls entered in the pageant were judged on poise, talent and their answer to questions asked by judges, Mrs. Barry Bowman, Barry Bowman, Gussie Turner, Arthur Knelland and Willie Davis. The royalty consisted of Gladys Alexander of Mt. Vernon, queen; 1st runner-up, Demetrays Johnson of Helena and tying for 2nd runner-up were Glenda Woodard of Wynne and Renonia Mitcham of Parkin.

USA party takes majority of representative positions

Reng center becomes headquarters for both parties as election day wears on.

Campus parties debate on more effective SGA

Amid red, white and blue campaign cards given out by the United Student Alliance claiming "the better way" and green stickers appealing to the "independent thinker" wishing to join the ranks of the Independent Student League, students were confronted from all sides.

In the cafeteria, during classes and even under their residence hall doors, students were informed of the pros and cons of every issue; through hand out sheets faithfully distributed by student government candidates.

Door to door speeches and sidewalk debates were commonplace as students expressed concern about apathy of other collegiates, cafeteria changes, a possible activities board and ineffectiveness of the Student Senate.

The USA announced their platform which contained outlines of a proposed student recruiting program and day care center for students living in Indian Village.

The Independent Student League platform contained a promise to abolish the mandatory yearbook fee and improve Student Government accounting procedures.

Interested students form a line in the breezeway waiting for a chance to cast their vote for the candidates they feel are best qualified.

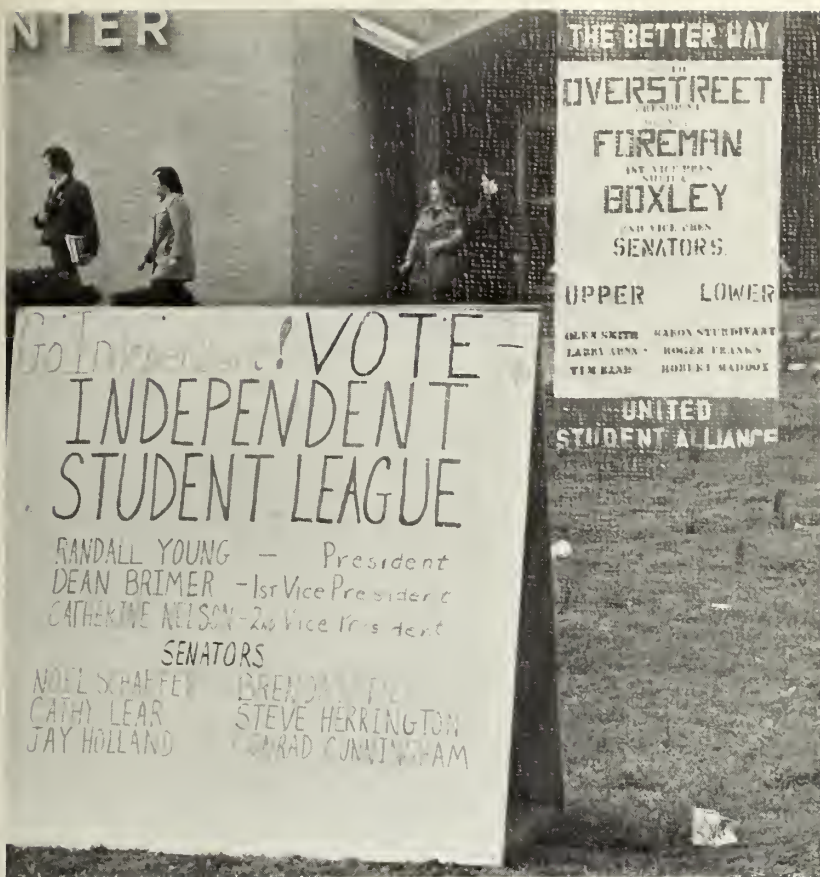

Informing these ASU coeds of the existing issues and voting procedures, Larry Arnn urges them to be sure and vote in the upcoming SGA election.

USA sweeps elections

Offering students a choice between two candidates for Student Government Association president, the elections held in March brought a sweep of United Student Alliance candidates into the Student Senate.

Keith Overstreet of Searcy, USA candidate, defeated Randall Young also of Searcy, ISL candidate, by 266 votes to become SGA president.

Dean Brimer of Bald Knob captured the only major office for the ISL when he defeated Johnny Foreman, USA candidate, for the office of SGA first vice president.

Sheila Boxley of Marked Tree, USA candidate, took the remaining top position to become second vice president.

Students running on the USA ticket also won each of the upper and lower level senatorial positions and all but two representative positions.

Despite the sweeping USA party victory, the Independent Student League organized by Young remained together following the election. Just as the USA party did a few years before, the ISL has written a charter and is seeking recognition.

As excitement builds, ASU students await the election returns which are being tallied by SGA officials.

Intervisitation alters dorm life for males

Beginning as an experiment, the intervisitation program initiated this fall in the male residence halls has proved successful in the eyes of students and administration.

After much consideration, last spring the ASU Board of Trustees finally issued their approval of the program. Following their decision each male residence hall requesting intervisitation drew up rules as to how the program would be implemented.

With deliberation on such points as privacy to male students who did not wish to participate in intervisitation and the safety of female guests, several rules were set up.

This cozy couple enjoys being together during intervisitation.

Going through the procedure, this resident of Twin Towers and his date receive their pass to enter under the intervisitation program.

Before visiting in the male dormitory a female student must obtain a pass in the office and be escorted by a resident of the hall. Intervisitation is open from Thursday through Sunday. Each wing in the male residence halls may also decide whether or not they wish to have intervisitation.

Proving themselves responsible enough to handle the program maturely, plans are now underway to attempt to extend intervisitation hours to the rest of the week.

This female student is a welcome sight on the Twin Towers elevator.

Parking poses problem

With many parking spaces taken up because of expansion, ASU commuter students felt the growing pains each day as they struggled to find someplace to park their vehicles.

Spaces west of the stadium, behind the agriculture building, in front of state hall and along Aggie Road were no longer available to students with cars.

Again complaints were registered with the administration. Students continued being late for class or parking on the opposite side of campus than where they had to be. No action has yet been taken.

Traffic sign typifies problem of commuter students.

Twin Towers parking lot may be quite a distance from the academic buildings, but for many commuters it's better than no space at all.

Closed cafeteria system brings mixed reactions

This student trades her token for a beverage.

Upon its initiation, the closed cafeteria system brought protests from many students living in residence halls.

Because of the iron railings blocking each front door of Chickasaw Cafeteria, students were sometimes left standing outside, regardless of the weather.

Commuter students were no longer allowed to eat or even enter under the closed cafeteria system.

The newly devised tokens were distributed at the door, providing that the student eating, matched the picture on the lunch card.

Some claimed it was a fire hazard, while others complained it was just another unfair measure forced upon residence hall students.

Based on the assumption that the new system would cut down on students eating free in the cafeteria, the administration felt that under the pressure of the increase in food prices, it was necessary.

ASU expands learning by construction

Through many long hours of planning and constructing, the new agricultural building is to be completed in 1974.

Expansion has become a familiar sight on the ASU campus, as students watch new buildings slowly rise to being.

Construction workers begin preparation for the new physical education building which is located west of the old football stadium.

Expansion has been an ever active part of ASU campus life. The past ten years has seen the construction of eight new buildings and renovation of several others. Expansion will continue in the future.

Buildings now under construction include a new agricultural building estimated at about $2,019,500.00.

Located west of Kays Stadium, the new P.E. complex will be a three building structure and will include a 25 meter, six lane swimming pool.

After renovation of State Hall is completed it will house the Division of Nursing.

The new football stadium when completed will cost approximately 2.5 million dollars.

The most costly expansion project on campus, the necessity of the stadium is questioned by some students and Jonesboro citizens.

However through money from the New Era Fund and a state allotment of $1 for every $2 contributed privately, the stadium is being built.

Expanding to meet growing needs, ASU is providing students more facilities with which to learn.

Students are becoming excited as they watch the football hole grow into a new stadium in which the Indians hope to play. Engineers say that the stadium will be completed in time for the opening game in the 1974-75 season.

Energy crisis strikes; leaves students cold

At some time during the past year almost every item necessary to ASU students was running out. It was definitely the year of the shortages, and students like every other American, felt the squeeze.

Commuter students painfully watched the gas prices skyrocket. In many instances some were just hoping the gas would be available to them; no matter what the price.

In residence halls and academic buildings students turned down their thermostats and dimmed unnecessary hall lights. Small signs over each light switch served as reminders that the energy crisis was upon us.

With loss of another precious hour of sleep the clocks were again turned back in order to save daylight. Early in the spring unfortunate students with classes at 8 a.m. walked through the darkness to arrive there.

Nothing was an exception when it came to empty spaces.

Tribe has rainy season

Even though the Tribe finished with an 8-18 record and had 14 games rained out, out of 40, many players managed to up their seasonal averages.

Senior outfielder Pete Davis captured a second batting championship, finishing his career with a .307 mark. He was also the fifth leading hitter in the Southland Conference with a .338 record.

Tommy Fowler finished the season with a .305. Fowler and Davis were the only Indians to hit over .300 for the season.

The only Indian pitcher to finish with a winning record this year was Jim Gray, who carved a 2-1 notch. Lefthander Bobby Harris led with an earned run average of 3.19, followed by Charles Blackburn, who had a 3.20 ERA. The team ran second in the rain-drenched SLC race, with a 5-3 record, a game behind Southwestern Louisiana.

Gymnasts take fourth state title

Many activities were executed by the ASU Gymnastics Team for 1972-73.

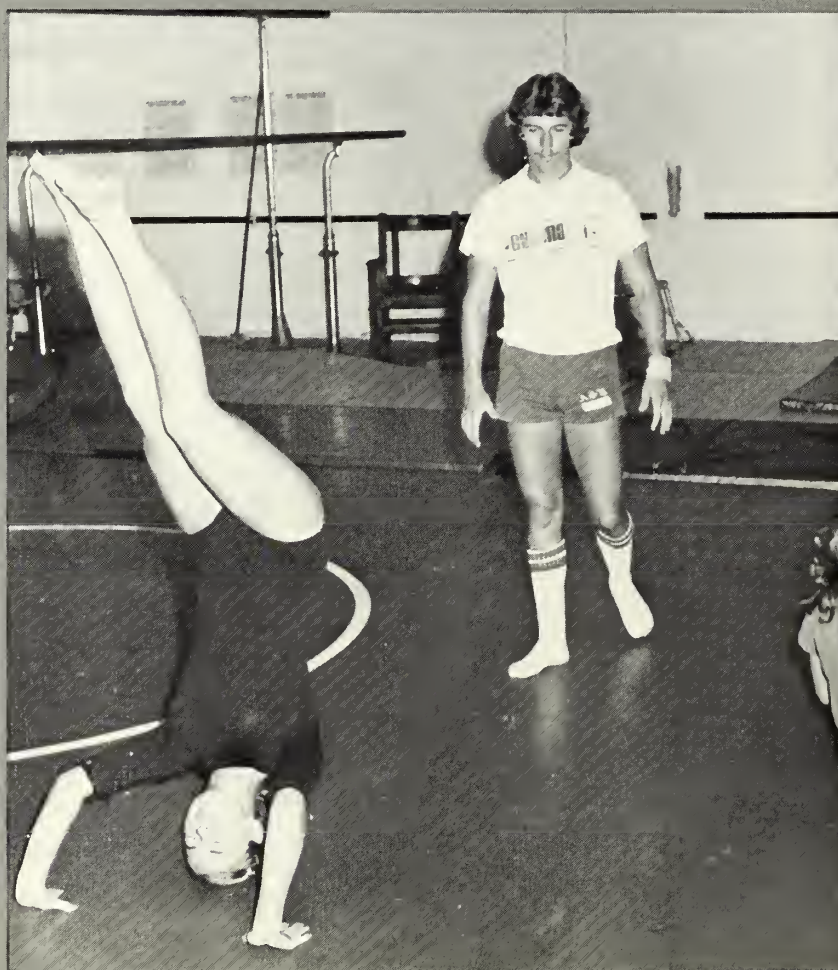

The team performed at many off-campus functions, including ball games, various programs and the Southern Baptist College at Walnut Ridge Homecoming activities. Three team members won 3rd place in a talent program.

The team participated in two regular meets and also the state meets, which were held at UALR and on the ASU campus. Both men and women took top honors in overall scores in most meets.

Women gymnast fell to second behind the University of Arkansas in the state meet.

A combination of hard work, a great amount of determination and hours of practice make a good gymnast.

ASU bowlers roll to victory

Starting the year with a lack of funds the A-State bowlers ended their season on a happy note. They came home with three first places in matches with Harding College, Louisiana Tech, Christian Brothers College and Southwest Missouri.

The bowlers traveled to Amarillo, Tex., for the Region 12 Bowling Tournament, but failed to place in this match.

Hopefully they'll all fall down.

Linksters hit hard times

Linksters hit a bad streak at the first of the season losing their first five games and numerous games were rained out bringing their record to a 2-5 mark.

Some individual tribe members did well. James Pate fired a 63 against Southeast Missouri, the lowest competitive round in ASU history. Pate had the first hole-in-one during the match. David Rees averaged a low of 72.8, followed by Harold Wilowsky with an average of 75.5.

Netters end season over 500 mark

A combination of great singles and doubles victories led the tennis team to a fourth place rank in the Southland Conference, which tied the school's record of 15 wins and 14 losses.

Paul Balducci became the first Arkansas State tennis player in the school's history to win an All-Southland Conference honor when he advanced to the semi-finals of the all conference meet. He proved to be the school's winningest player with his impressive 58-34 singles and 50-32 doubles record.

Ken Mitchell made it to the round before quarter finals in the SLC meet. This brought Ken's record to 14-10.

Individual efforts boost thinclads

The ASU track team finished sixth in the Southland Conference. As a whole the team did not do as well as several of the individual teammates.

Anthony Stroman came in strong on the 440-yard dash with a final time of 46.3, which qualified him for the NCAA Championships in early June. Stroman ran the quarter only five times in open competition. Four of these runs were made in 48-seconds flat.

The ASU 440-yard dash record was 48.3 when Stroman arrived at ASU. He broke the record all but one time. Weather affected his time in the Memphis Relays where he did not beat the time.

Miler Jim Bailey, another outstanding runner, came into prominence in the conference meet with a 4.08 mile to win that event. This race was the best of his career. He had run it in only 4.14 during the season.

Stroman and Bailey were the only ASU winners in the league meet despite other performances, including a school record, 4.06, in the sprint relay and a career best, in the losing efforts.

Harriers are dissappointed in SLC meet

The Tribe came in 5th in the conference meet. The only harrier to place in the top 15 was Doug Mack, who ran 11th.

The Tribe was hampered due to the fact that the team consisted of milers and half-milers.

Distance running requires a building up process. It consists of over-distance. It is difficult to take a group of milers and half-milers and develop them into true-distance runners.

Early in the season they began by running three miles and continuing to build up to the required six miles. The team was consistent at four miles, but when they moved up to five miles the depth and strength diminished. The team worked hard all year despite the many obstacles they had to encounter.

Farewell to Kays

... and welcome to a New Era

Tedious practice pays off

To manage a final 7-3 record, the ASU Indian football team went through long hours of tedious practice and extreme August heat during the pre-season two-a-days.

Beginning the mornings with warm-ups, the day progressed into specialty groups of passing, kicking and blocking. The group then divided into offensive and defensive teams formulating play patterns which would later be used in a mock game so the members could recognize each one's responsibility on the team. By game time, the sweat, aches and pains were forgotten and only thoughts of victory remained.

Indians battle Indians

Cowboys versus Indians maybe, but Indian against Indian? The traditional Red-White games saw five major confrontations this spring with the Red team walking off with four victories.

A rainy game was scheduled in Paragould with the Red men sliding past the White team by one point. The Blytheville game boosted the Red team's record to 2-0 by narrowly beating the White troops. Newport was the next stomping grounds with another slight win by the Reds over the Whites. Forrest City saw a massacre when the Red tribe scalped the White Tribe 33-13. Kay's Stadium hosted the fifth Red-White game with the White squad upsetting the Red team in a 9-7 ambush.

Superior matching of teams caused the first three games to be won by such narrow margins.

The Red team consisted of the first string offense and second string defense. The White team ran with the second string offense and first string defense.

The games are played for the benefit of the younger players who have not had much game experience. Head Coach Bill Davidson believes in taking the ASU football program to the people in these exhibition games and showing them the ASU Indians.

Tribe upholds promises of victory

Arkansas State exploded into its 1973 football season with a 56-46 victory over Abilene Christian. This win was the first Tribe home win since November 12, 1972 when it defeated the University of Texas-Arlington, 28-7.

ASU's quarterback, Steve Burks, led the impressive offense with seven touchdowns. While Burks was scoring on the ground Abilene's quarterback, Clint Longley, was adding up his score with passes, leaving the Indians ahead at halftime 42-33.

After the break both teams came on strong but the Indians' defense proved in control, allowing ACC only one more touchdown. This opener led the way to a successful season for the Tribe.

Tribe swamps Cajuns in conference opener

This was the Southland Conference opener for both teams, and the Ragin' Cajuns of Southwest Louisiana brought a tough defensive unit with them. But the Indian offense under the leadership of quarterback Steve Burks proved to be too much for them.

The real standout point for the Indians was the defensive play of the squad. Minus five defensive starters, Defensive Coach Mike Malham's charges still performed exceptionally well.

Although yielding 13 points to USL in the first half, the young defense held the visitors scoreless in the second half to give the Indians their first conference victory, a 27-13 triumph.

Defense grows up

That's the way Defensive Coach Mike Malham felt about his charges as their super play paced the Indians to a 9-3 victory over the Indiana State Sycamores. They showed no sign of a let down after having lost to Wichita State, 14-12, in the final seconds of the previous ball game.

ASU's young defense turned the ball over to its offense six times in Indiana State territory and twice on the ASU 5-yard line. The deepest penetration by the Sycamores was to the ASU 15-yard line. This resulted in a 30-yard field goal which gave Indiana State a 3-0 lead late in the third period.

The ASU defense finally got rolling early in the fourth quarter. The Indian defense turned the ball over to the offense on its own 45-yard line and the offense got it close enough for Joe Duren to kick a 39-yarder of his own to tie the score at 3-3. Indiana State failed to move on their next possession. Joe Holliman fielded the ensuing kick at his own 38-yard line and raced 53 yards to the Sycamore nine. Moments later, David Mitchell, who had an earlier TD run called back, plunged over from the 2-yard line for the winning score.

Tribe posts first shutout in three years

It had been three long years since the ASU defense had turned in a whitewash job, but the squad rose to the occasion in the annual Little Rock game.

The Indians put 37 points on the scoreboard against the Xavier Musketeers. Xavier had such a disappointing season that the school dropped its football program at the end of the season, leaving the Indians without an opponent to open the 1974 grid season with on Sept. 7.

Senior tailback David Mitchell enjoyed perhaps his greatest night as a collegian, gaining 211 yards and scoring twice.

The squad took a bitter loss a week later against SLC foe Lamar, and saw any hopes of a conference crown shattered. The Cardinals rode a second half comeback to a 10-7 win over the Indians.

Kickoff return saves Homecoming

It looked like the Indians were fit to be tied before "Wee" Willie Harris broke a 95-yard kickoff return for a touchdown, sparking a come-from-behind 38-20 win over Illinois State.

The squad looked lifeless throughout the first half and were trailing 14-3 with 8:24 remaining in the third quarter.

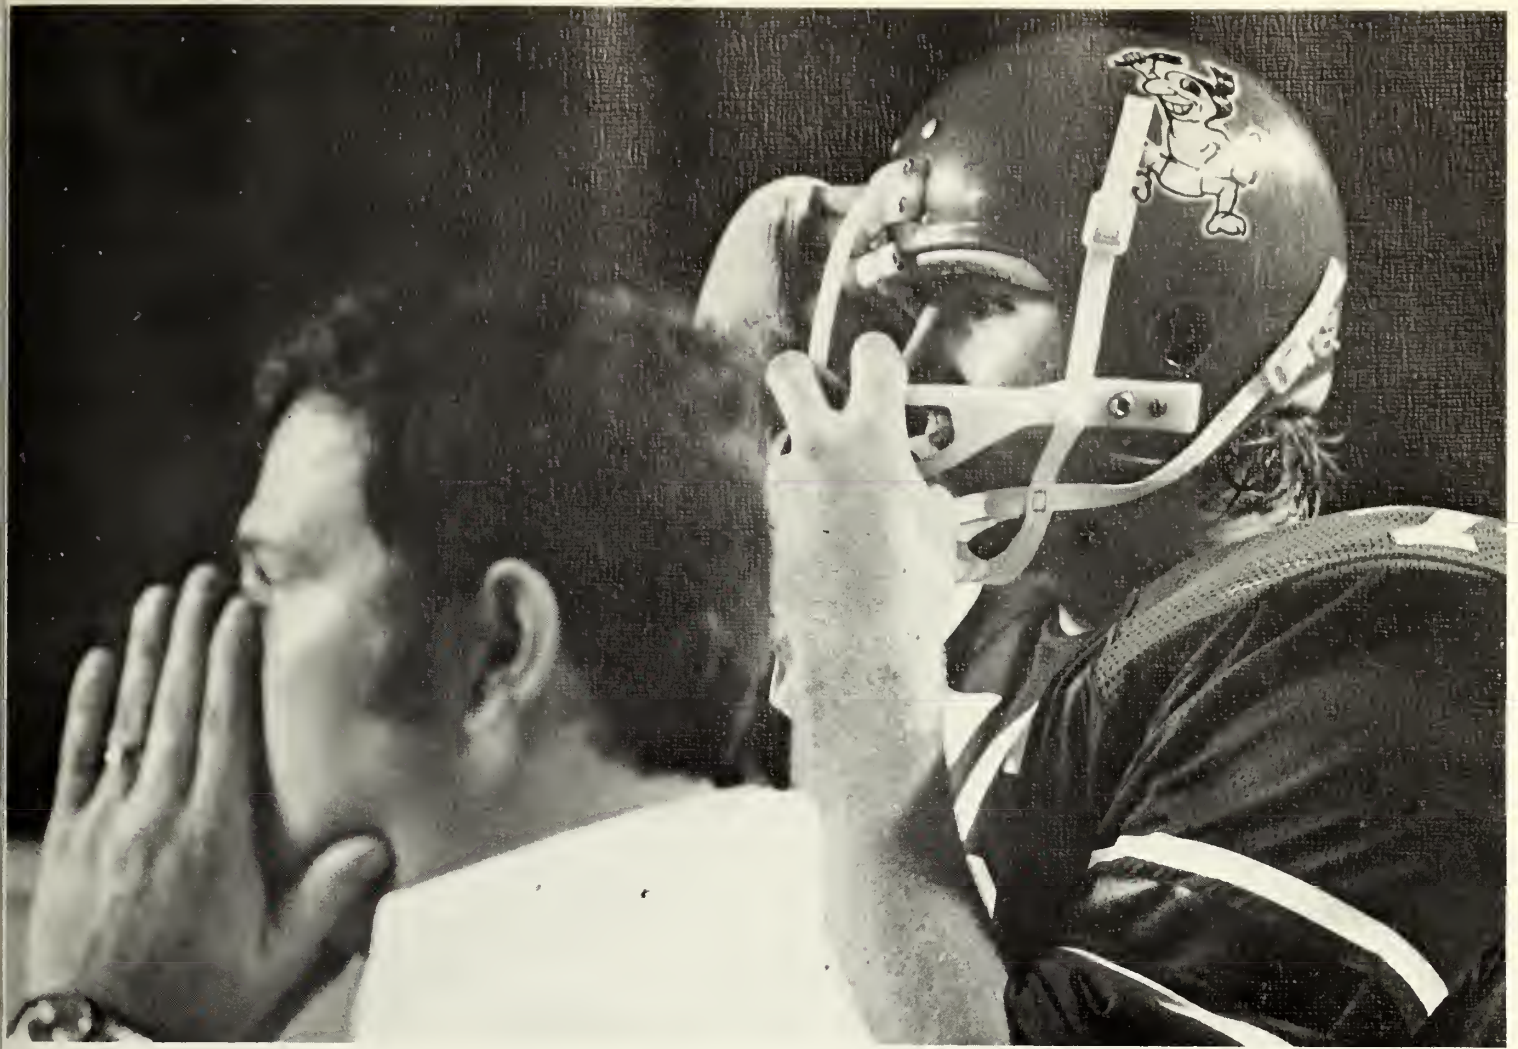

However, the kick return brought the Homecoming crowd to its feet and the Indians back to life during the chilly afternoon contest.

The game was also marked by a superb defensive effort which held the Redbirds relatively in check while the ASU offense could get untracked.

A critical blow was dealt the Tribe when fullback John Tierney's nose was broken in the contest. Tierney was subbing for all-SLC performer Stan Winfrey, who was lost early in the year with a separated shoulder.

Gridders close Kays with overpowering win against UT-Arlington

After 36 years, the curtain came down on Kays Stadium on a victorious note as ASU topped UT-Arlington, 30-14.

One week later, the Tribe surged to a tie for second place in the conference, scoring 19 points in the final period to upset McNeese State, 26-23.

Due to an NCAA technicality, the Tribe's 7-3 record was not good enough to receive a bowl bid. However, it did get the squad recognition in the final grid poll and raise expectations for the 1974 season.

Cagers open in a rush in 1973 basketball debut

Opening with a rush, the Indians posted a convincing 98-63 win against the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in their 1973-74 cage opener.

Five ASU players scored in double figures, including junior guards Don Scaife and J. H. Williams, who had 17 each.

The Tribe used a tough man-to-man defense to throttle the Panthers. Head Coach John Rose said people would "enjoy watching this team play." He was to prove correct in his analysis, because everyone loves a winner—and this year, the cagers were big winners.

Even energy crisis can't stop Indians

Despite the then budding fuel crisis, the Indians continued to roll—literally—over their opponents. However, following their second and third wins of the year, the Tribe began to feel the crunch.

Paced by Stan Jemerson's 26 points, the Tribe squeaked by the University of South Florida, 91-89. Steve Brooks had 15 points and Don Scaife added 18 for the Indians.

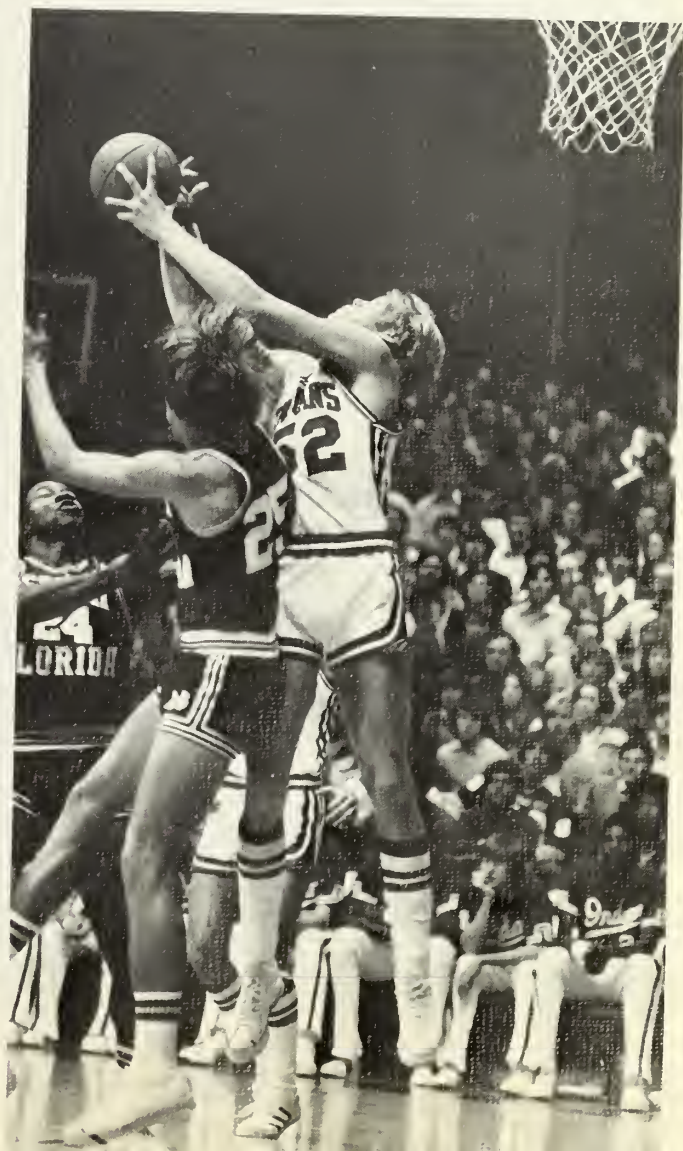

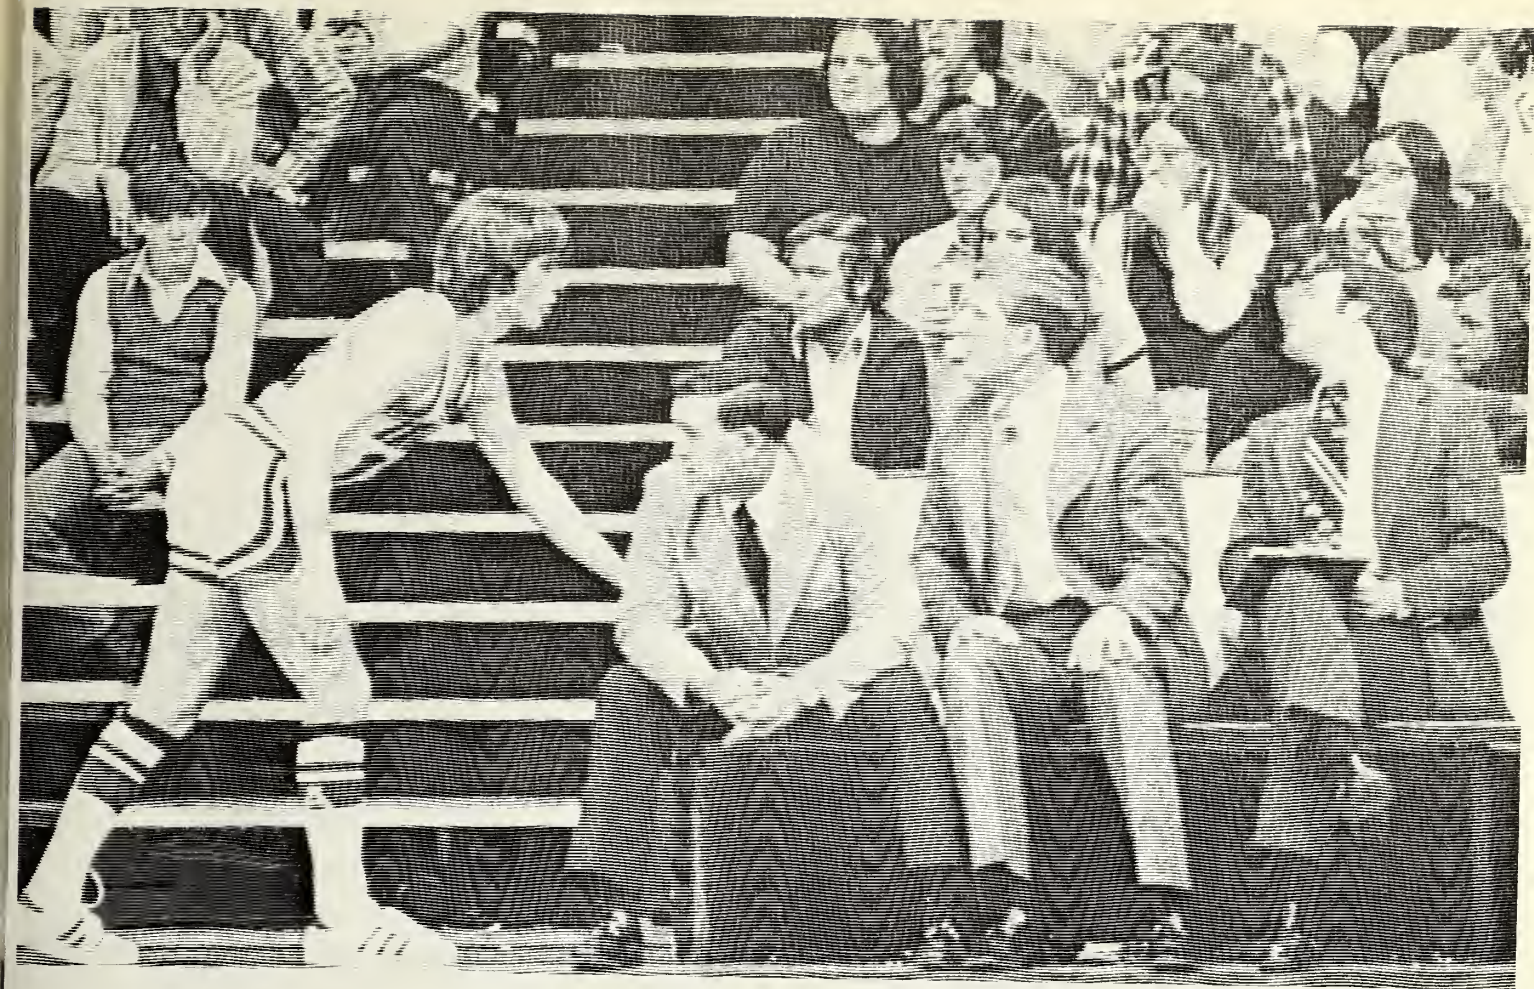

The sky was the limit in ASU's third game as the Tribe, in its first road game of the year, stopped Pan American, 91-80.

Brooks and Scaife dominated the scoring charts, hitting 33 points each—more than enough to offset the 27-point performance by Pan Am's Bruce "Sky" King.

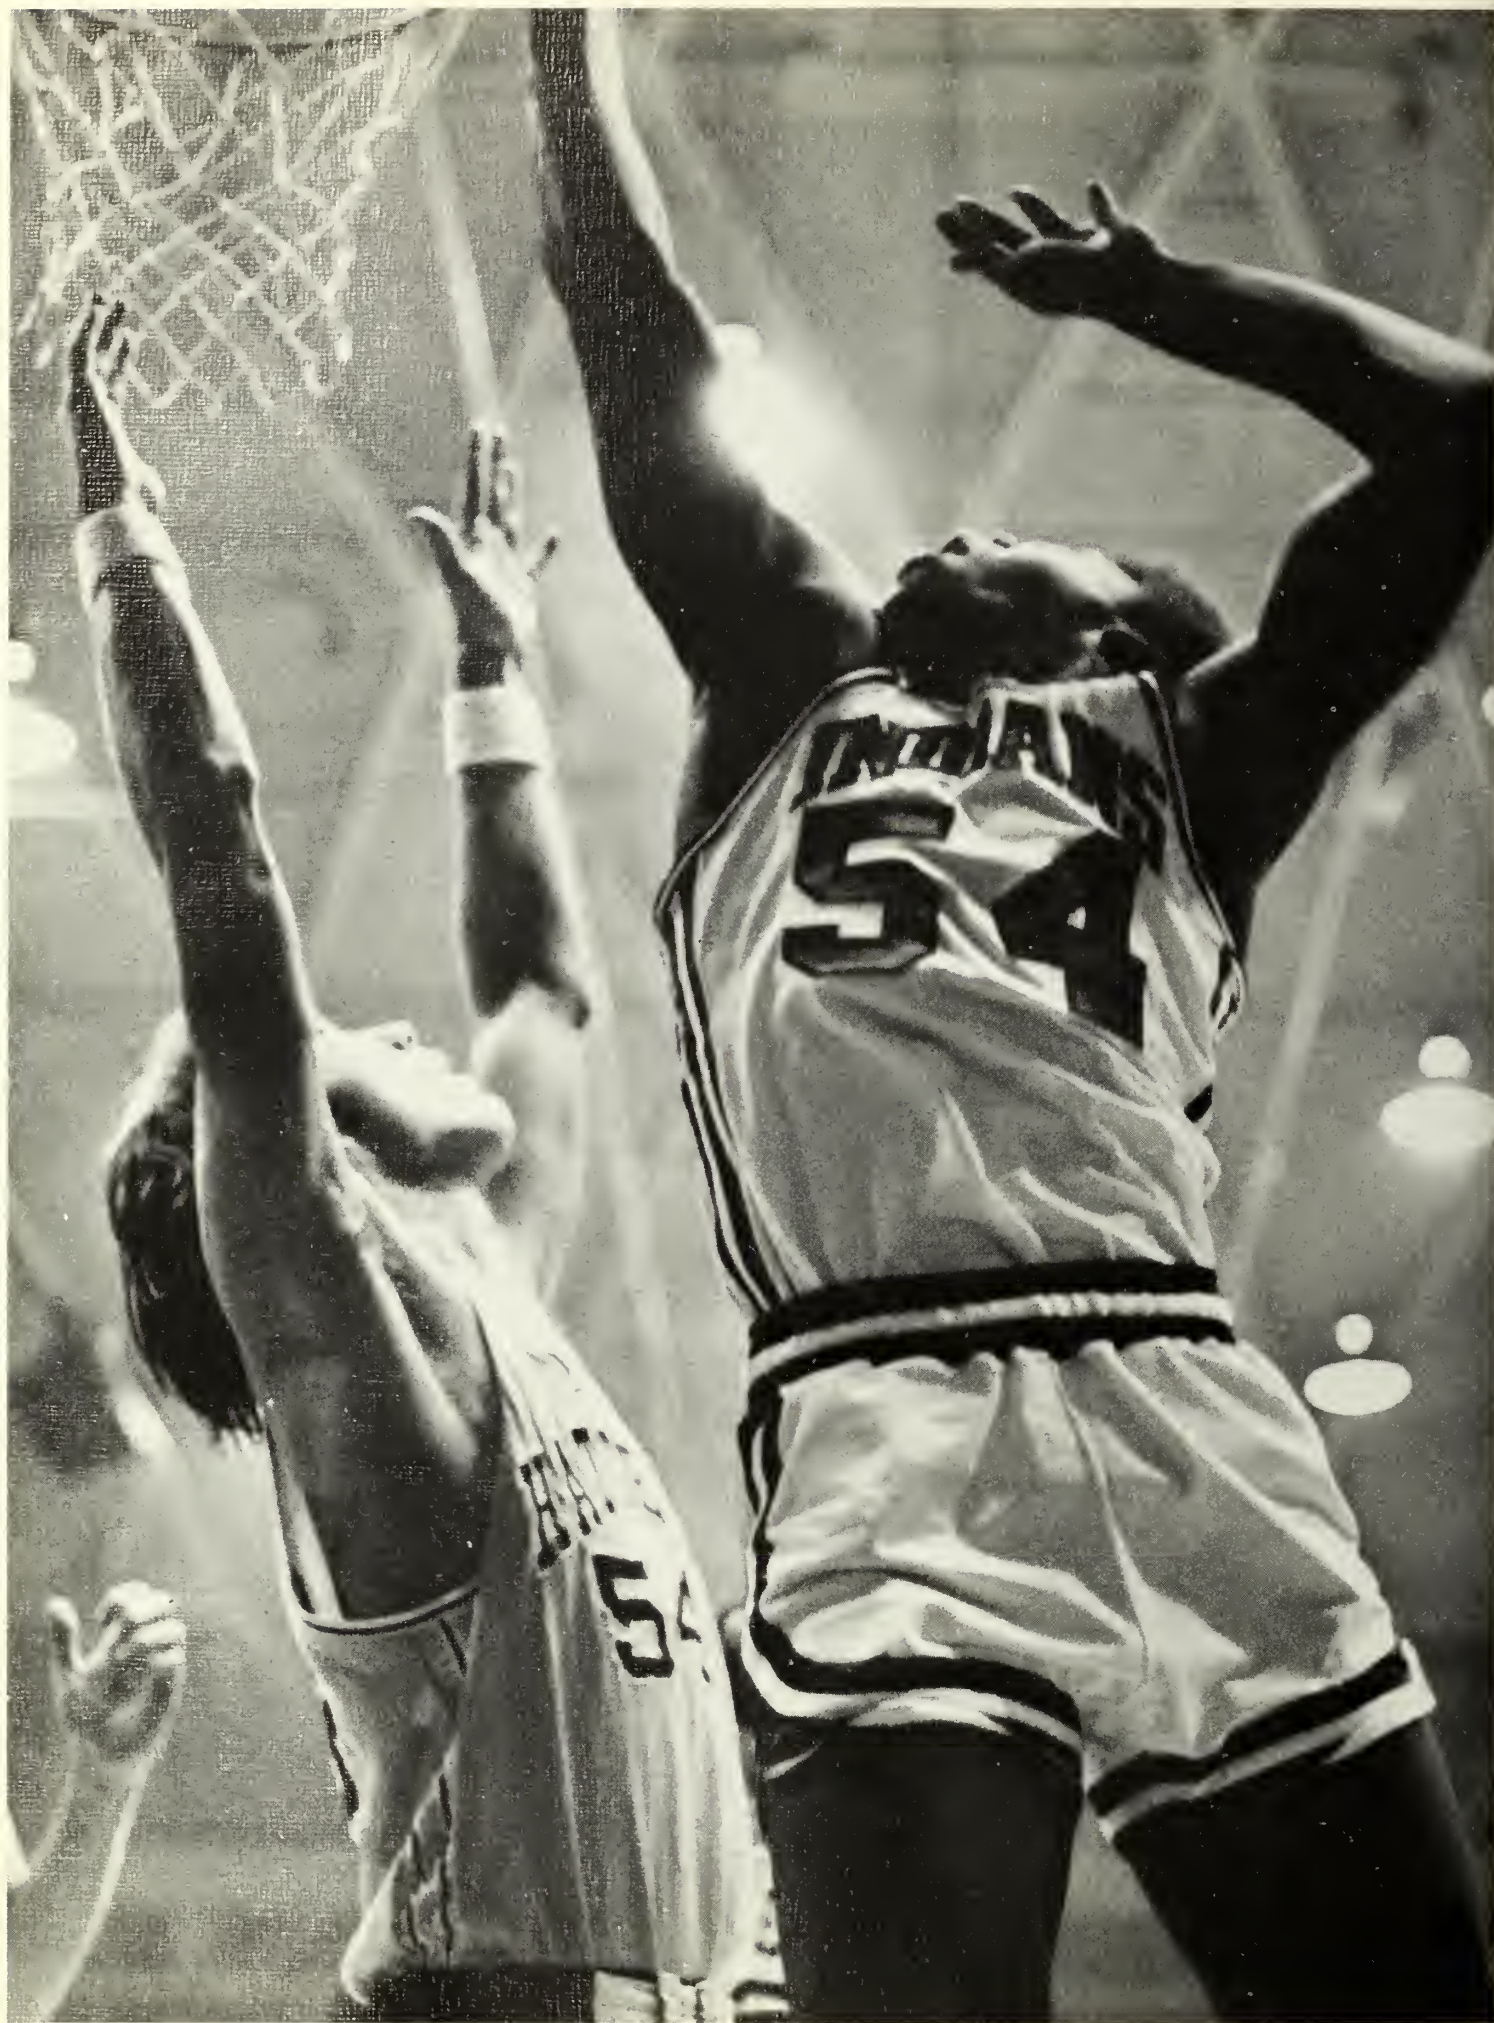

A trip to Little Rock pinned the Indians with their first loss of the year—a 90-81 loss against tough Missouri Valley Conference member Drake.

Hot shooting cagers burn Delta State

In what was undoubtedly the "breather" of the year, the Indians shot a blistering 70 per cent from the field and notched a 94-64 win over Delta State.

The Statesmen, winless going into the contest, offered only token resistance as the Tribe snapped its 3-game losing streak.

SEMo's Indians, traditionally tough on their home court, became the Redmen's fifth victim of the year in a 67-55 win.

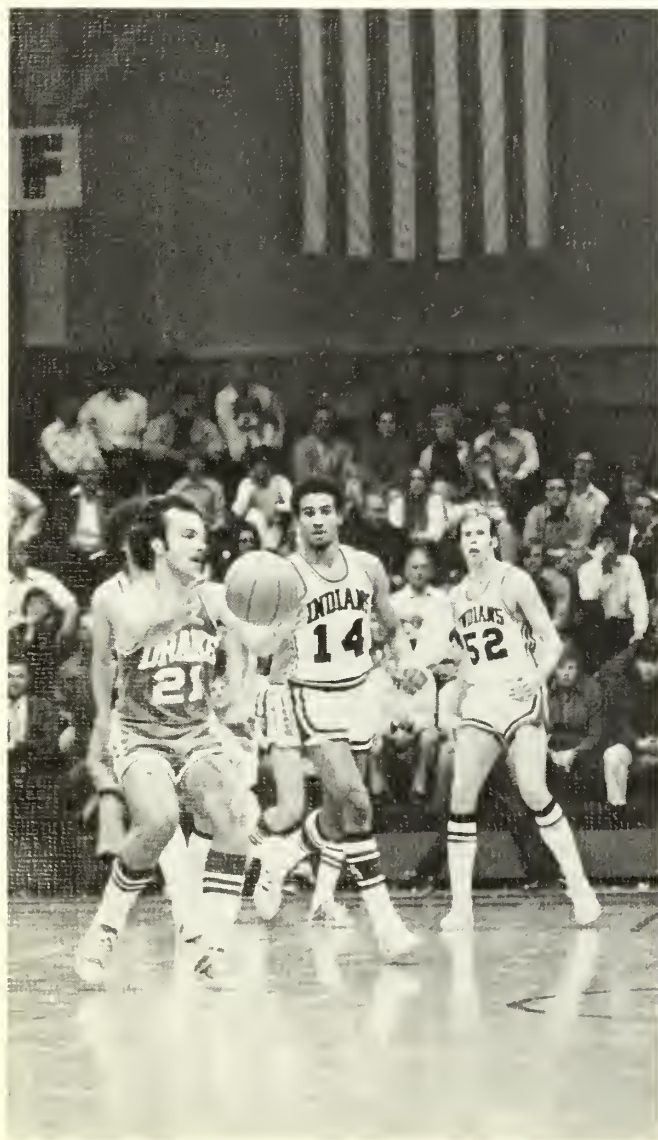

The squad's winning streak had stretched to five when ASU finally returned to Indian Field House.

Stetson University applied defensive pressure to ASU's backcourt tandem of J. H. Williams and Don Scaife all night, forcing numerous turnovers and allowing the Hatters to stay within striking distance of the Tribe.

However, the Indians allowed Stetson only 20 points in the final half and posted a 60-56 win.

That was the Tribe's final record of the year—against Missouri Valley Conference competition.

Both ASU and Drake shot poorly in the first half of their contest at Indian Field House. However, it took a buzzer shot by 5-9 guard Gary Adams to pull the Tribe to a halftime tie.

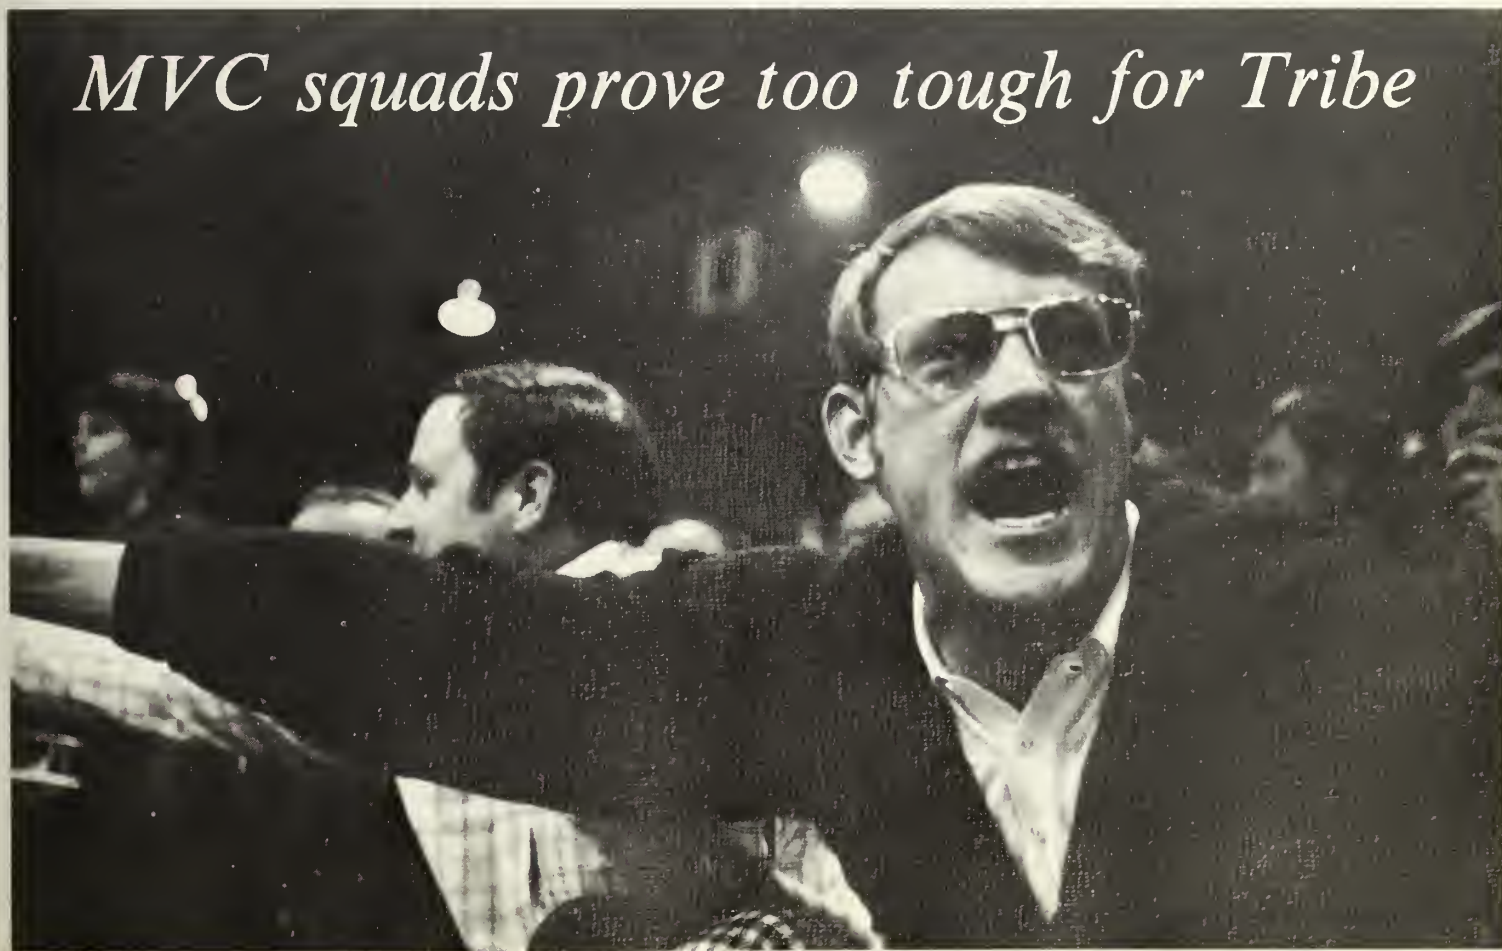

It was all downhill after that for the hosts, however, as Drake came out hot and ASU cold in the second half.

The worse the Tribe's fortunes were going on the court, the worse they fared off the court as well.

Two technical fouls were assessed to the Tribe, one to Drake and a crowd more than a little weary of the going-ons heaped verbal abuse and—at times—hurled empty cups and paper onto the floor.

And if that wasn't enough, the "Sky" fell on the Indians as Pan American gained revenge for an earlier loss at the hands of the Tribe with a 66-63 win behind a standout performance by Bruce "Sky" King.

MVC squads prove too tough for Tribe

Cagers start SLC race on high note
Indians scalp Mavericks, Cardinals

The conference schedule for the ASU cagers began on a pleasant note, as the Indians topped the University of Texas-Arlington, 70-58.

Technically the Tribe already had met an SLC foe—Louisiana Tech. However, since Tech, McNeese State and Southwestern Louisiana were ineligible due to NCAA violations, it became a 3-team race.

A-State upped its conference mark to 2-0 three nights later, topping Lamar University, 72-62 at Indian Field House.

The winning habit also carried over into A-State's away games. Two road wins followed, beginning with an 88-52 mauling of Christian Brothers College.

Tribe stays 'up in air' after clinching title against UT-Arlington

Things were literally "up in the air" when McNeese State invaded Indian Field House late in the season.

A comedy trampoline performance during halftime was one of the few things that ASU fans had to smile about, as the Cowboys topped the Indians, 83-77.

Still smarting from NCAA reprimands which made them ineligible for the conference title, the Cowboys were eager to prove that they still were "the class of the conference." And for that night, they were.

The sting was soon lessened, however, when the Tribe traveled to Arlington, Tex., to face the Mavericks. A win would give the Indians the SLC title.

However, despite holding a 15-point lead with over 10 minutes to play, the Indians had to struggle to hold off UTA, 79-78.

Northeast, McNeese throttle A-State's post-season hopes

Hopes of a post-season tournament bid were dealt a death blow when the Indians of Northeast Louisiana topped the Arkansas State Indians in ASU's final home game of the year, 94-90.

Athletic officials had been holding to "slim hopes" of a possible playoff bid from either the National Collegiate Athletic Association or the National Invitational Tournament. However, it was generally agreed that for such a chance to exist, the Indians would need to win the rest of their games. They didn't.

The season ended on a bitter note four days later when the McNeese Cowboys ambushed the Indians, 65-60.

However, there was a bright spot in the defeats. Senior Steve Brooks finished first in both scoring and rebounding in the SLC, the first player ever to capture both titles in the same season.

Intramurals provide recreational outlets

Intramurals give students a form of recreation outside of the spectator's view of extramural sports.

Fraternities, sororities and various independent groups participate. Games are refereed by volunteers from the Physical Education Department.

Activities include such sports as football, basketball, games of spades and hearts, ping pong, badminton and volleyball.

Two trophies were awarded at the end of the year. A sweepstakes trophy was given to the team with the highest accumulated points. A sportsmanship trophy was also given.

Rush bids sisterhood to 110 anxious coeds

The rush is on! As 161 confused coeds begin formal rush by attending a number of informative coke parties in hopes of finding out what "sisterhood" is all about.

Mrs. McDaniels office was the first stop on route to sorority row as loquacious females picked up their invitations to theme parties. For some, it was the first sigh of relief, for others an anticipating uneasiness of the things to come.

Cries like "Come to the Circus", "be our Cinderella" and "Come to the Cabaret" were just a few of the many overtones present.

The tables turned: fun became secondary, for a decision was about to be made. "I want them, but do they want me?" That is the question and Mrs. McDaniel again had the answer.

For some, a smile could say it; for others a silent disappointment seemed in order. Nevertheless rush went on and preferential parties brought tears and last minute smiles.

Tomorrow rush would be over; but for most a new beginning as a pledge was at hand. Rush was what they called it, and rightly so!

With one arm around newly arriving pledge, Sherry Crisp, Helen Andrews braces herself for this occasion

"Cinderella" and all her Alpha Gamma Delta step-sisters join in harmony and song to amuse excited rushees with their colorful props and glowing personalities.

With big smiles and little movement, AOPis, Mary Ann Greer, Jane Jolly and Cathy Juergens attempt to elbow their way into the hearts of rushees.

"Come to the Phi Mu Circus!" Nancy Coverdale and Lynn Brockman clown around the table in the process of entertaining Lynn Mitchell.

Olympics give greeks with taste of mud life

Once again the men of Pi Kappa Alpha provided an afternoon of muddy mayhem to sorority girls as "Pike Little Olympics" became another day to remember in the life of Greeks.

"The boogie woogie bugle boy of PiKA" herded the females through such events as egg throws, pillow fights and wheelbarrow races.

Events which highlighted the afternoon flurry included the limbo, which boasted six flexible competitors, the pillow fight which ended in deep despair for most and the egg drop which got sympathetic comments from the sidelines.

After skit presentations by the participating sororities and a number of athletic and non-athletic events the score cards were tallied showing Chi Omega leading the pack with the Alpha Gamma Deltas close behind.

ZTA follies entertain Greek-filled audience

And away we go . . . back to the days of slapstick comedy as Zeta Tau Alpha, in its first year brought a taste of days gone by to the ASU campus.

From balancing a chair on a chin to roller skating across Wilson auditorium's stage, the nights activities brought laughs from the greek-filled audience.

The heroes of the evening were sprinkled into melodramas and courtrooms with a taste of "Tea for two" and a pinch of "Look what they've done to my song."

Two first place trophies were awarded: one to Chi Omega and the other to Pi Kappa Alpha.

The evening provided fun for those participating and laughs for the onlookers, as well as giving the ZTA's an opportunity to extend their help in numbers to the Cottage of Hope and the National Association of Retarded Children.

Walk-a-thon produces more than tired feet

"Walk for one who can't." That was the motto for a walk-a-thon conducted by Kappa Delta Sorority to raise money for the John T. Gray Memorial. In its first year, the walk-a-thon held on October 28 brought participants from many campus organizations. The ten mile route began and ended at Hurricane Gym Parking lot. Students were seen walking hurriedly in order to reach one of three rest stops on route.

A trophy was presented to Chi Omega Sorority for being the organization with the greatest number participating.

Besides being of benefit to the community, the walk-a-thon brought laughs and aching muscles from those who helped raise over $2000 for the School for Handicapped Children.

TKE fingerbowl gives afternoon flag-tag fun

One . . . two . . . three . . . TKE . . . three . . . two . . . one Tau Kappa Epsilon. That traditional yell could be heard as the TKE Fingerbowl brought another afternoon of activity to sorority girls and a game of competitive football to the men of Tau Kappa Epsilon and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Pre-game activities included a parade with Queen Dixie Conner, presiding over the court.

Sorority sisters stomped their way into the stands to the tune of "Grand ol TKES", while others presented skits featuring such novelties as the ding-a-ling sisters.

Half-time entertainment was provided by the renowned Rubber Band comprised of TKE pledges. As the game ended the scoreboard showed TKE on top of Sig Ep 20-3.

Awards for best skit and most spirit were presented to Chi Omega and Alpha Gamma Delta respectively.

Melody, blend and tone produce Songfest sound

Group singing, blend, interpretation, presentation and appearance are all basics for competition in the AOPi Songfest. The All-Greek event is held annually by the Sigma Omicron Chapter in order to raise donations for the National Arthritis Foundation.

Greeks on the ASU campus indulge in hard laborous hours of practice in an effort to break the competition and take that first place trophy back to their suite.

Winners of the 1973 Songfest were in the fraternity division, Sigma Phi Epsilon and in the sorority division, Alpha Gamma Delta.

Tekes produce not only enough sound to be heard, but to place.

Lambda Chi "Little 500" encourages participation

On your mark . . . get set . . . go! And the participants in the Lambda Chi "Little 500" are off and running.

This is an annual event sponsored by the Iota Theta chapter. Greeks work industriously on their push cars in an effort to build the most efficient and handsome car.

The event is held in order to promote Greek participation. Along with competition, the "Little 500" also produces liveliness and a spirit of involvement.

Winners in the 1973 push car race were Sigma Phi Epsilon and a tie between Kappa Delta and Alpha Omicron Pi. In the tricycle grand prix, Phi Mu peddled away with the trophy and the award for the best decorated car went to Alpha Omicron Pi.

Alpha Gam talent show emerges doubly good

Once again the Alpha Gamma Delta talent show provided students with an evening of competitive entertainment. The show, sponsored to raise money for the Helen Dudley School, was highlighted by the doublemint twins and an emcee's rendition of "Basketball Jones".

This year's first prize went to singer Pat Morrison with Rodger Barrow and a Tau Kappa Epsilon ensemble taking second and third place respectively.

Thurber Carnival first in Phi Mu Playhouse

"The Four Greek Ones," this year's Phi Mu Playhouse held in Wilson Auditorium, brought applause and bright lights to the audience.

The best play award went to Lambda Chi Alpha, Alpha Omicron Pi and Alpha Gamma Rho, for "A Thurber Carnival".

Proceeds from the playhouse are donated to Phi Mu's national project, the S.S. Hope, a ship providing medical aid to nations throughout the world.

Alpha Gams earn scholarship trophy

Friendship, leadership, truth, scholarship and womanhood are the ideals which Alpha Gamma Delta members hold as high standards for sisterhood.

The Alpha Gamma Deltas participate in many altruistic projects throughout the year, one of which is the Alpha Gamma Delta Talent Show. Proceeds from this campus wide event go to the Founders Memorial Foundation, the Helen Dudley Special School and the Cottage of Hope.

Besides being active in campus clubs and organizations, the Alpha Gams received the Panhellenic Scholarship Trophy for the fall semester of 1973-74.

Alpha Gamma Delta sorority was founded at Syracuse University in 1904 and was the first sorority on the ASU campus, receiving it's charter in May 1948.

"We've got it, AKA's have got it," that is what the ladies of Alpha Kappa Alpha said when they received their charter in October.

The Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority has used its affiliation to become active in most every aspect of Greek life. The AKA's have sponsored the "Do you know your Mate Game," which will become an annual event. A basket given to needy families at Thanksgiving and Christmas and several activities at the Helen Dudley school are a few of AKA's public service projects.

President of AKA, Deborah Johns, has led the sorority through a year filled with accomplishment.

AOPi's 25th birthday brings big celebration

Member-Date, sisterhood party, alumni tea and a banquet are only a few of the special events which AOPi's held in celebration of their 25th Anniversary on the ASU campus. Founded in 1897 at Barnard College this year they celebrate 75 years of service as an International fraternity.

In the area of International, the Sigma Omicron chapter received two top awards at the International Convention this past summer in Miami. President Jeanne Crain attended and received, in behalf of the chapter, the Distinguished Service Award and the Central Office Cooperation Cup. One of Sigma Omicrons' active alums, Mrs. Rosalie Barber, serves as International Executive Vice-President.

On the ASU campus AOPi is very actively represented by its members in the SGA, Indian staff and with a member of the Judiciary, and other clubs. Sigma Omicron sponsors the AOPi Songfest annually with proceeds going to the National Arthritis Foundation. Also sponsored annually is the Christmas party for underprivileged children.

Chi Omega was founded at the University of Arkansas in 1895 and has grown to be the largest woman's national fraternity with 158 chapters. The Omicron Zeta chapter was established at Arkansas State University on February 25, 1961.

Throughout its history, Chi Omega has stressed six purposes: sincere learning and creditable scholarship, high standards of personnel, friendship, vocational goals, social and civic service and participation in campus activities.

Each year Omicron Zeta sponsors the Chi Omega Dating Game with all proceeds going to the Arkansas School for the Deaf. Every Christmas they also donate food and gifts to a needy family with a party in their suite.

Receiving their national charter on May 12, 1973, the Kappa Psi chapter of Delta Theta Sigma became a new part of the Greeks at ASU.

Beginning last spring with eight charter members, the Deltas pledged for six weeks before participating in initiation.

This year they sponsored the Penny Queen contest, which they hope will become an annual event. The money raised from the contest goes to their community service project.

Founded in 1913 with national headquarters in Washington, D.C., there are 435 Delta Sigma Theta chapters in the United States.

KD's take first place in campus blood drive

The Kappa Delta's have been serving their community in many ways. For the last three years they have won first place in the campus sponsored blood drive. This year they sponsored a walk-a-thon and raised $2,500, which was given to the John T. Gray Memorial School for the Handicapped Children. Besides raising money for the school they give the children several parties throughout the year.

Founded in 1872 at Longwood College, the Kappa Delta's have many chapters throughout the country.

Although it is one of the younger sororities on the ASU campus, founded in 1968, president Marilyn Brown feels that the KD's are growing, and that they will continue to be active in the community as well as in campus activities.

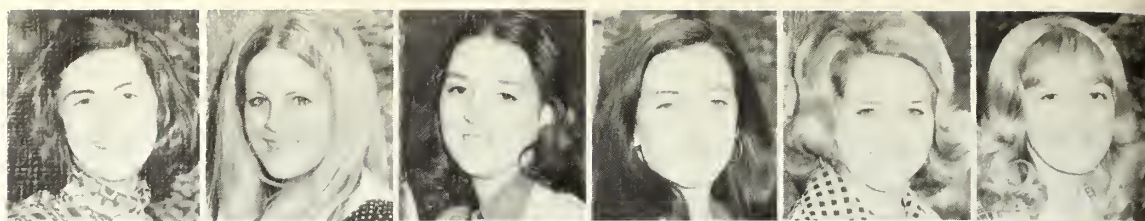

Showing spirit these KD's cheer their team on to victory.

Epsilon Delta is also involved with the Mother's March of Dimes and St. Jude's Hospital as public service projects.

This year Phi Mu won first place in the stationary division of Homecoming display competition. The chapter, under the leadership of president Judy Clift, has been active in most every aspect of campus life.

This year Zeta Tau Alpha sponsored the Zeta Follies and raised $300, which they gave to the Cottage of Hope, their national philanthropy. The Zeta's also gave the children several parties throughout the year.

This year the Zeta spring pledge class gave valentines to all the guys in the fraternities thus carrying on an annual tradition.

Founded at Longwood College in 1898, the Zeta's have had six pleasant and active years here at ASU.

The Zeta's have been active in various organizations and sports on campus. This year they won first place in the bike race and third place in Pike Little Olympics.

President Becky Hudson said the Zeta's have had many girls involved in new things this year and they have found it exciting.

State students streak streets

March 4-8 was the week that was, as students, numbering in the hundreds and thousands, gathered in and around University Hall to witness streaking—the latest campus craze.

The first event featured approximately 25 males. Streaking continued throughout the week, on the lawns, in classrooms and in buildings. Some two to three thousand students gathered at University Hall to witness ASU's first streak-off on Thursday night.

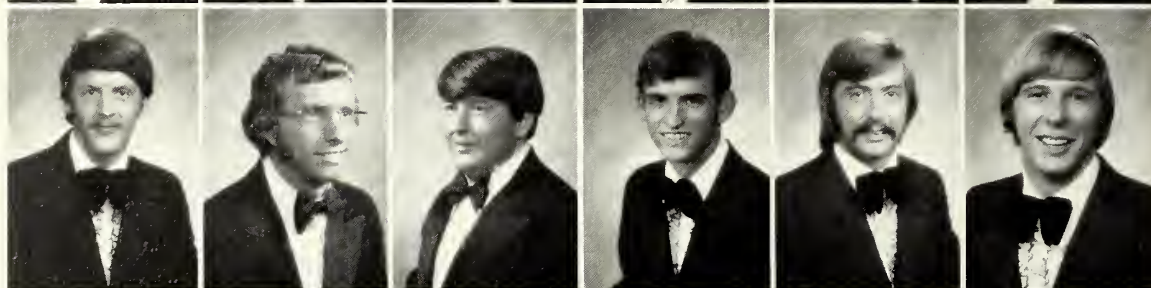

Some girls participated in the events, but at ASU, streaking has been pre-dominantly male.

AGR-new fraternity sign - and proud of it!

Alpha Gamma Rhos' receive national charter

Alpha Gamma Rho was founded in 1904 on the Ohio State University campus. It began as both a professional and social fraternity and remains so even today, as well as being one of the newest fraternities on the Arkansas State University campus. AGR also was the first to open a fraternity house.

Helping the chapter serve its fourth year on the campus are fall president Ronnie Baker and spring president Joe Jarrett.

■ Alpha Phi Alpha's sponsor can good drive

Alpha Phi Alpha is the first national black fraternity ever founded. The Theta Upsilon chapter was founded here at ASU in November 1973.

The Alpha Phi Alpha's have shown their interest in the community through several programs. They sponsored a Halloween party for the needy children and at Christmas headed up a Christmas can good drive which supplied many people with food.

The Alpha Phi Alpha's have two pledge classes each year. The pledges are known as Phinxman, and they are required to pledge anywhere from six to eight weeks.

President Flynn Smith, said that although the Theta Upsilon chapter is relatively new on campus that they plan to stay actively involved on campus as well as in the community.

Getting on down . . . these Alpha Phi Alpha's gladly perform for their friends.

Showing pride in their fraternity these members don't hesitate to wear their shirts.

Collecting toys for tots brings back memories of teddy bears and raggedy anns.

This year the ATO's selected Larie Barnes as their sweetheart.

ATO's help collect toys; Make children happy

In cooperation with KAAY radio in Little Rock, the ATO's sponsored their annual Toys for Tots program. They collected toys which were distributed to needy children throughout the state.

The ATO's have been active on campus for six years. They are involved in sports, student government, school publications and various other campus sponsored activities.

Two ATO's, Larry O'Dell and John Wallace served as editor of The Herald during the fall and spring semesters.

ATO president, Rick Finely, was elected as president of the Interfraternity council.

ATO pledges are planning a help week which will involve the whole fraternity. The pledges will decide on a certain project which will help the community. The whole fraternity will set out to complete the project.

Kappa Alpha renovates fraternity house

The Men of Kappa Alpha, "Southern Bred", promote "Old South" tradition. Since its founding in 1865 by Robert E. Lee, the Kappa Alpha order has continued to grow in Dixie.

This year the KA's have busied themselves renovating their recently purchased fraternity house.

Besides community service during the holiday season, the KA's sponsor Sharecropper's Ball, a spring fling and a Christmas formal. Their activities calendar is highlighted by "Old South" Week.

The KA order has been especially strong this year in intramural basketball. Under the leadership of president Johnny Nichols, the KA's have taken an active part in most every aspect of campus life.

Steve Reese holds back a fierce beast as other LXA's await the beginning of "Lambda Chi Little 500" parade.

Lambda Chi's plan new fraternity lodge

Lambda Chi Alpha has high hopes for a prosperous future with the construction of the first new fraternity lodge on the land provided to them by the University.

The fraternity is constantly changing in growth and attitude. They've updated the word 'fraternity' by the new meaning of associate member.

Each year the Iota Theta chapter sponsors the Lambda Chi "Little 500" and a Christmas party for underprivileged children. Other annual events include the Crescent Ball and Founders' Day.

Brothers of LXA are active in SGA, every aspect of school publication, athletics and the ASU Marching Band.

LXA, the largest national fraternity on campus, was founded at Boston University in 1909.

Randy Skarda, fall president and Bill Cook, spring president direct Lambda Chi's participation in activities that are not only good for the chapter, but for the betterment of the University.

Omegas find brotherhood in ASU fraternity life

Founded on Nov. 17, 1911, the Omega Psi Phi fraternity became a part of ASU campus activity last year when they received their charter.

The greek letters signify their fraternity motto which reads "friendship is essential to the soul."

Adopting manhood, scholarship, perseverance and uplift as their cardinal principles, the Omegas also have an unwritten principle which is "respect for womanhood."

With a pledgeship which lasts from six to eight weeks, the Omega pledges are called lamps.

Janice Johnson served as the lamp's sweetheart.

Lamps take their "on the block" formation.

Omega lamps take time after eating to rap awhile.

Brothers of Omega Psi Phi relax following a ritual meeting and look back over the year through the scrapbook.

Pikes fight pollution; count fish in streams

In an effort to fight pollution, the Pi Kappa Alpha's volunteered to help Dr. Harp, associate professor of zoology at ASU, carry out a program to see how pollution was affecting the creeks and fish of the area.

The Pikes spent much time swimming in the creeks and trying to count the fish. The Pikes also won two first place awards this fall. They won the mechanical trophy award during Homecoming and Mike Martin, a PiKA won first place at the Zeta Follies.

Sponsoring the "Little Olympics" again this year, they also played Santa Claus to several orphans and underprivileged at a Christmas party.

Given their charter March 13, 1948, Pikes are active on campus as well as in the community. According to president, David Johnston, varsity athletics and various clubs keep them busy and competitive.

Ice cream and a Sig Ep, who could ask for a nicer Christmas gift?

Sigma Phi Epsilon excels in intramural sports

Dominating the intramural program in the Greek division, Sigma Phi Epsilon won the championship titles in football, swimming, volleyball, bridge and billiards. Aside from their athletic abilities, the Sig Eps also displayed their versatility by winning the AOPi Songfest.

Their concern for the community was in evidence when they contributed to the March of Dimes and Heartfund drives. A Christmas party for underprivileged children provided the Sig Eps with another avenue for their civic efforts.

Founded in 1901 at Richmond College in Richmond, Virginia, the Sig Eps at ASU are headed by Larry Arnn, president.

Joined together by their Sig Ep bond, these guys find it easy to smile as they cheer another Sig Ep brother to victory in the Lambda Chi 500.

Sigma Pi alumnus named to Board of Trustees

Alpha Pi chapter of Sigma Pi is the oldest national fraternity at ASU, receiving its charter in 1948. The fraternity was founded in 1897 at Vincennes, Indiana.

Active in all aspects of campus life, Sigma PIs are involved in the SGA, varsity football, baseball and ROTC.

This year Sigma Pi Doug Lowery was named to five All-American football teams and alumnus Mike Beebe was appointed to the ASU Board of Trustees.

Under the direction of Donny Glenn, president, they have also been working to secure funds to build a fraternity lodge in the near future.

In this game his poker face is as important as his hand.

The men of TKE celebrate 25 years

Tau Kappa Epsilon, founded in 1899, is now in its 75th year nationally. The Beta Psi chapter came to Arkansas State in 1935 and celebrated 25 years this March. The anniversary celebration included a Saturday of banquets and dances.

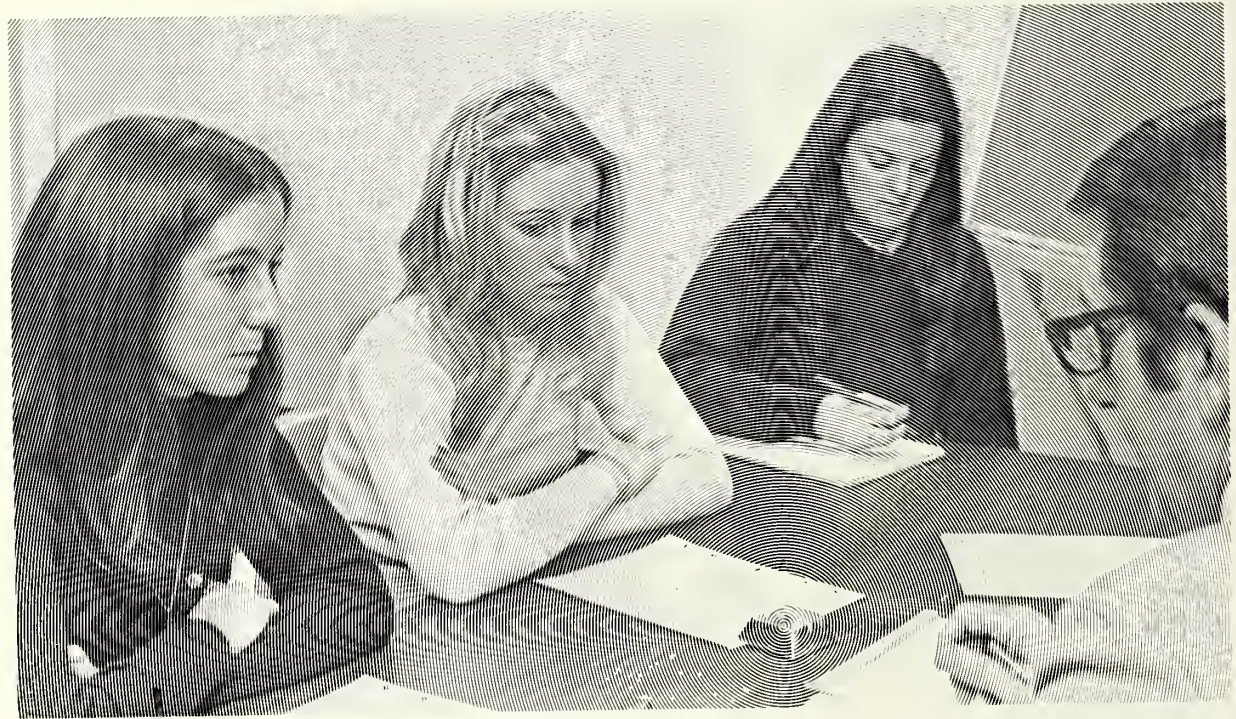

Beta Psi has donated time to such public service projects as St. Jude's Blood drive and has served as chairman for the Heart Fund.

The men of Tau Kappa Epsilon boasted a 22-3 victory over Sigma Phi Epsilon in this year's TKE Fingerbowl. Again TKE proved strong in Intramural competition.

The largest fraternity on campus, Tau Kappa Epsilon, under the leadership of president Warner Cruce, is active in campus publications, athletics and student government.

TKE pledges cheer their brothers to a 22-3 fingerbowl victory.

Lobo, Brooks delayed 30-minutes

The first concert of the year, Lobo and Denny Brooks, held the interest of most of those who attended with songs such as "How Can I Tell Her" and "Simple Man."

Although the concert was delayed 30-minutes, the endless line of students waited outside the fieldhouse in the cool night breeze.

When the doors opened, some danced, some clapped and stomped their feet like a one-man band, some yelled and others just sat quietly.

Reng Center provides student services

Playing pool relaxes the mind after a long day of studying.

Due to book expenses, checking books from the library would satisfy the pocket better.

Students inspect job possibilities at the SGA bulletin board.

Escape-ism is the key word that relates students and the Carl R. Reng Center together after a grinding day of cell division, the Pythagorean theorem, western man, creative writing—the routine scene.

Friends herd together to bowl, shoot pool, browse through the University Bookstore, laugh together in the Wigwam over an “expensive” icy coke or sit silently in the Indian Lounge reading “The Canterbury Tales.”

A lady barber, Ruth Jones, was added to the staff of the Reng Center Style Shop. She is shown trimming Chris Foster's hair.

Married life shown ASU style

Bikes give economical transportation to Indian Village residents during gas shortage.

Why can't youngsters start to college rather than kindergarten?

Indian Village, a community all its own, located on streets such as Pawnee and Choctaw, is a housing complex for married students who attend ASU.

Many youngsters can be seen playing in the small yards or running up and down the streets with their favorite toys.

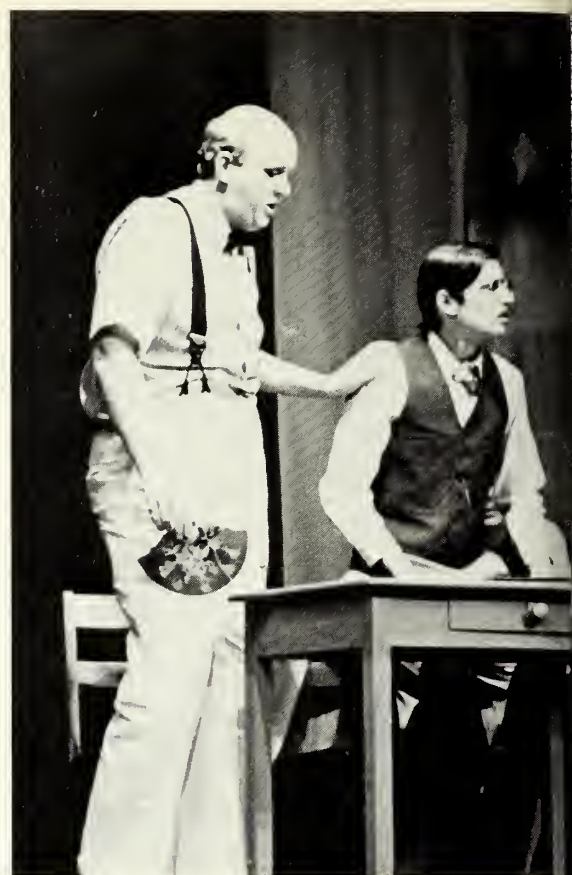

The long rows of blue and white trailers and apartment complexes may seem dull and endless but to those that live there it is "home."

Matthew H. Brady (Gary Hendrickson) suffered a fatal heart attack (above) during the trial. Brady (above right) subdues Tom Davenport (Mike Mallott) after an offending statement made by Drummond (Mike Smith). Barbara Adams, as Rachel Brown, and Gary Heath, as Bertram Cates, pause (right) during an intimate moment.

ASU presents "Inherit the Wind"

Evolution? Who believes in this . . . "sinful" Charles Darwin and "Evilution?"

"Inherit the Wind," the first drama production of the year, was a 3-act play based on the famous Scopes Monkey Trial.

Wilson Hall Auditorium became the focus of attention of the large audience as the curtain rose to reveal the July 1925 setting.

In order that everything would be kept within this time period, the characters worked at their costumes, physical mannerisms, makeup, social traits and hair designs.

Other cast members included Garry Heath and Mike Mallott of West Memphis, Jake Bell and Butch Gilbert of Cabot, Buzz Leopard of Little Rock and Sam Murray of Parkin.

Terry Huckabee, director of the University theater directed the play.

Henry Drummond (Mike Smith) cross-examines Matthew Harrison Brady (Gary Henrickson) as the judge (Harry

Tornado strikes Jonesboro

Kell Field, on the ASU campus, suffered extensive damage.

Two cars were blown together under McDonald's golden arches.

Tornado. A word that terrifies anyone who has ever experienced one. Others simply do not understand the terror.

On May 27, 1973, Jonesboro experienced the second devastating tornado in its recent history. Massive damage was dumped on the community while ASU sustained relatively minor damage.

Bicycles flourish at ASU

"What a foolish contraption, it will never become popular." That is what one skeptic had to say about bicycles around the turn of the century. Today, everywhere one goes, he sees sleek, shiny "10-speeds" being propelled by persons of any size, shape or age.

If the present trend at ASU continues, plans for bicycle registration, more bicycle racks and possibly bicycle paths between classes will be formulated.

The resurgence of bicycles started out as what seemed to be just another fad. This fad looks like it is here to stay.

Groups sock rock

The SGA's second concert of the year, Dr. Hook and the Medicine Show, received many reviews from ASU students. Dr. Hook played such songs as "Come and Gone," "Sylvia's Mother" and "Cover of the Rolling Stone." This group, who has been together four and a half years, was categorized by many of the 2,200 students as "vulgar" and "disgusting", while others found it humorous.

Before Dr. Hook, River City, a group from Fayetteville, performed. They played songs from their two albums, "River City Street Band" and "River City Anna Divina," and were well liked.

Surrounded by a maze of equipment, River City drummer drums up today's sounds.

*Little Rock game is dry
... unusual*

On October 20, the Indians made their annual trip to Little Rock to play in War Memorial Stadium against the Xavier Musketeers.

Behind a very potent ground attack led by tailback David Mitchell, the Indians recorded their first shutout in three years with a 37-0 romp over the Musketeers.

The circumstances for the game were very unusual, the stars were shining. The only wet conditions were those that belonged to some of the fans.

Many students journeyed to Little Rock from Jonesboro, some in cars and some chartered buses. Several fraternities held parties, which became victory celebrations after the game.

Homecoming concert brings "soul" to campus

"Play the guitar!"

Singing makes one happy

Sister Rose and Billie Jo entertain students.

A standing ovation was given the Cornelius Brothers and Sister Rose after an outstanding concert in Indian Field House during the SGA's third concert of the year. Of course, the spirit was high since it was homecoming week.

The 10-piece group, called in as a replacement for the Ike and Tina Turner Revue, entertained the estimated 2,000 "music lovers" with such songs as "It's too Late," "Treat Her Like a Lady," and their version of "Neither One of Us."

Rineholt Unlimited, the warm-up band for Cornelius Brothers, played heavy, soulful instrumentals.

Both groups received many reactions- Cornelius Brothers and Sister Rose, for their pattern dancing, hit songs, and flashy costumes, and 10-piece band; Rineholt Unlimited, for their soulful style, and drum solos.

Victorious game climaxes week for ASU

Maid Larie Barnes cheers the Indians on.

Not everyone can receive a trophy.

Veda Bunch was crowned as ASU's homecoming queen.

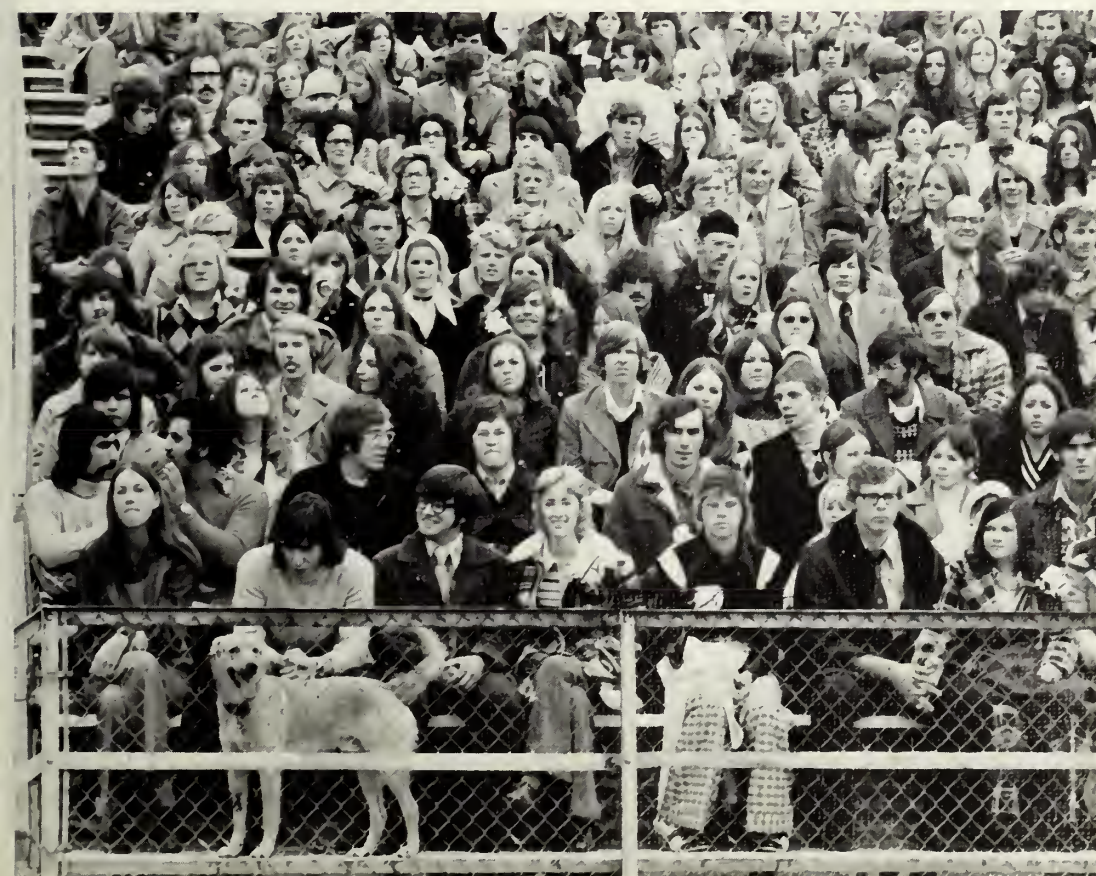

Homecoming, as usual, gave many students the chance to find out work can be fun. Even though there were fewer displays, the work was still cut out for everyone.

Like years before, everyone appeared to be hard at work all week but nothing seemed to get done. By Thursday, everyone was asking "Will we ever get finished." So Thursday night was spent working miracles; in more ways than one. The weather even accomodated the students. The wind was blowing and the temperature freezing.

The pep rally before the Illinois State game was one of the better ones. Even though many of the students were hammering nails and stuffing chicken wire, the crowd at the pep rally was spirited.

Homecoming elections held earlier in the week resulted in the first independent queen being elected-Veda Bunch. Her court was Mary Ann Greer, Dinah Frazier, Debbie Duncan, and Larie Barnes.

Homecoming was ended by an Indian victory over Illinois State, 38-20.

Football games aren't enjoyed only by people.

. . . Lights . . . action!

It was 12:30 in a house not far from Boston, when Christopher Bean, a talented artist, died. He left behind numerous valuable paintings causing mass confusion among his friends who were trying to get the paintings for themselves.

"The Late Christopher Bean," the second drama production of the fall semester, directed by Kenneth Parks, received many reactions from the slim, but interested audiences.

Percussionist performs before full house

Percussionist Roy Burns appeared in concert November 13 in conjunction with the ASU Jazz Ensemble I.

Burns, who has been noted as one of the top drummers in the world, played to a packed Ballroom. Jazz Ensemble II also performed.

Before the presentation, Burns conducted a clinic for area high school and Arkansas State University music students; covering rock, ensemble and school drumming techniques.

Weather modification discussed by lecturer

"Weather Modifications: Realities and Prospects" was the title of a lecture by Dr. Wilmot Hess, director of the Environmental Research Laboratories, Nov. 14 in the Carl R. Reng Center Ballroom.

The lecture, sponsored by Sigma Xi, national science honorary for faculty members engaged in research, focused on tornado velocity measurements, a subject relative to the Jonesboro area due to recent rash of tornado warnings and sightings.

Discussed also were current capabilities and future prospects concerning lightning and hurricane wind reduction and other problems involved in weather modification.

Worldscope lecturists speak to students

Panelists answer questions.

Students listen attentively.

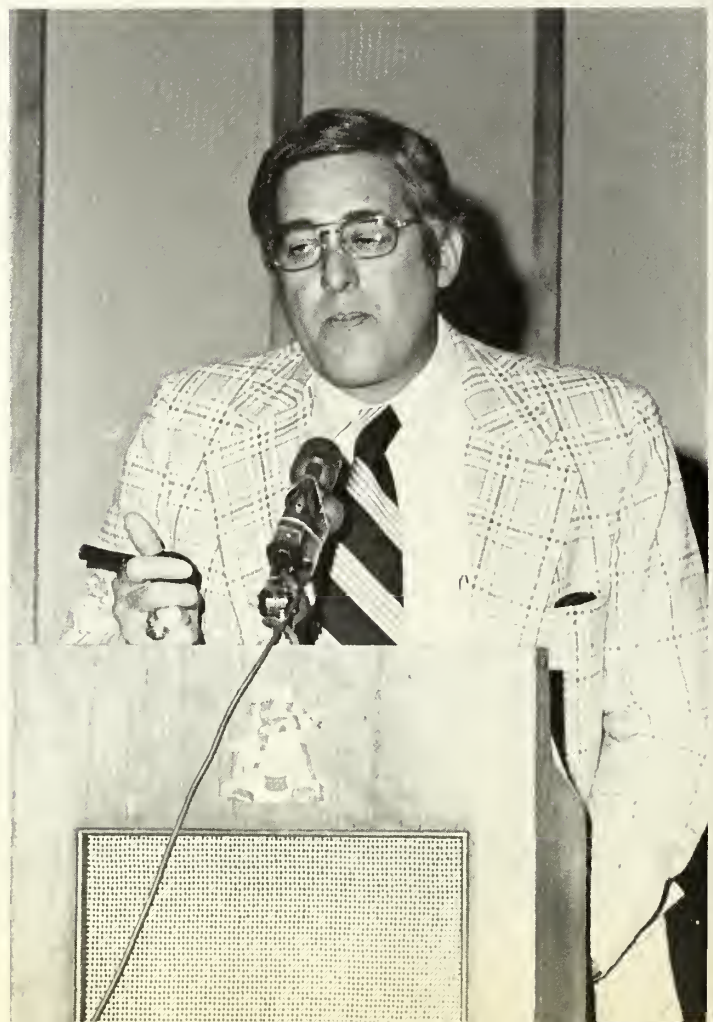

Adi Ben Zvi, vice consulate from Israel to Houston; Dr. Hassan Nejad, associate professor of political science; and Dr. Swikar Elwan, acting director of the Arab Information Center in New York, drew a capacity crowd for the first SGA sponsored Worldscope series, November 14.

The panel, moderated by SGA senator Larry Arnn, discussed reasons behind the Mid-East War, the possibilities for peace and the oil crisis-embargo.

Each panelist was allowed 20 minutes to state his positions.

On February 27 the second Worldscope Lecture was held in the Carl R. Reng Center Ballroom on "The energy crisis and its effects on the economy of Arkansas."

Grant Davis, an instructor of business at the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville was the guest speaker. He has just finished a study on the energy crisis.

Modern dance group performs

Dr. Charles Weidman, often noted as the father of modern dance, and his Theatre Dance Company, performed a program of modern dance, comedy and pantomime at ASU January 17.

Weidman is an instructor in dance, a choreographer, comic and pantomimist. The group is located in New York.

The production included "Letter From Mrs. Bixby," a dramatic presentation of a letter written by a mother who had lost all her sons in war, "Two Pantomines," "St. Matthew Passion" and "Brahm's Waltzes, Opus, 39."

Charlie Brown and "Fantasticks" visit ASU

Continental Theater Company presents the Fantasticks.

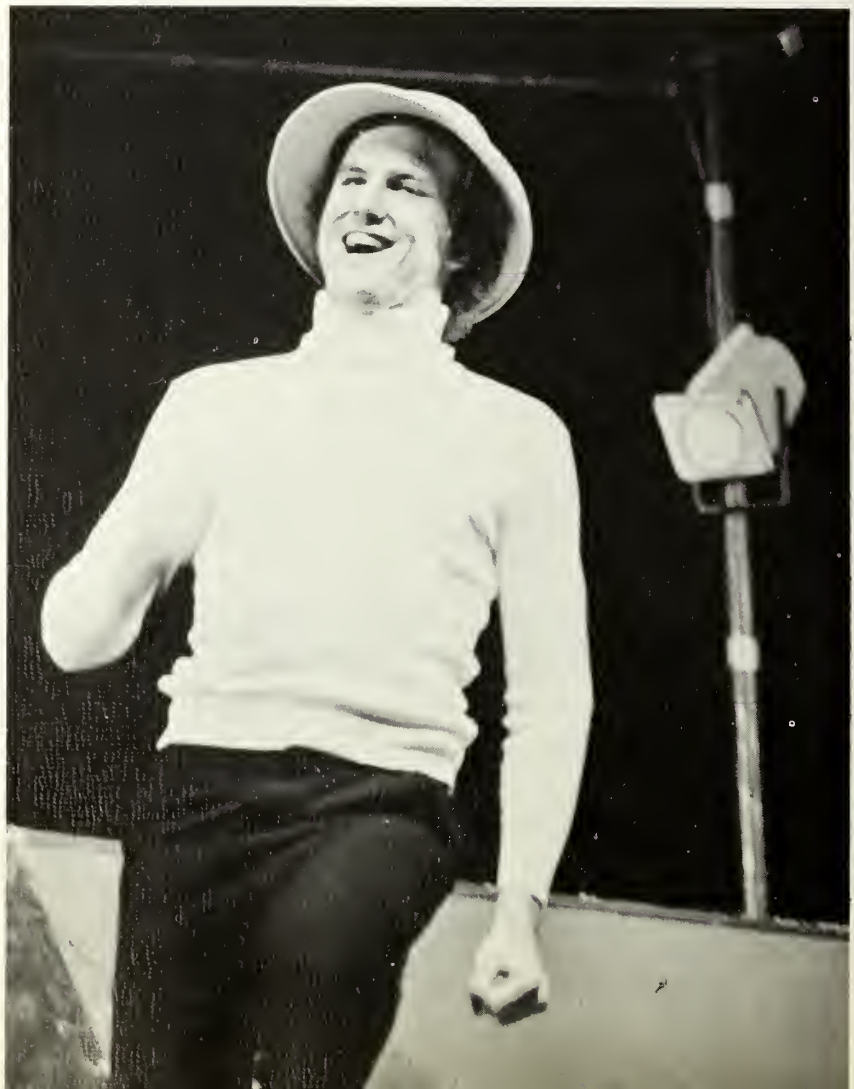

Charlie Brown says, "What a face!"

"You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," depicting an average day in the life of Charlie Brown, and "The Fantasticks," the longest running off-Broadway play in American theater history, were presented February 6 in Wilson Auditorium by the Continental Theater Company.

The non-profit group, originating from Wichita, Kansas, tours the country on grants from the Kansas Fine Arts Council and private individuals and businesses.

"Charlie Brown" featured the famous philosophies of the "Peanuts" cartoon characters. "The Fantasticks" featured songs like "Try To Remember," "Never Say No," and "Soon It's Gonna Rain."

Remember to sing a happy song.

The Stories concert, with proceeds going to a proposed student recreation center, had little response. Around $1,200 was lost.

The concert was held on Thursday, Dec. 13, a week before finals.

Around $3,000 was spent on the bands and sound equipment. Three dollars was charged for admission.

Wake, the warm-up group performing before Stories, put the "show on the road" with a variety of popular songs.

Holiday season brings work, happiness, fun

Many organizations gathered in front of the Reng Center for caroling.

Construction of the tree in the Indian Lounge begins.

Comfort and relaxation are essential to studying for finals.

Some had a chance to understand the true meaning of Christmas.

Santa made frequent appearances at the parties.

At long last, Christmas vacation arrived and students said goodbye to classes, finals and Chickasaw for 21 days. The spirit arrived early around the ASU campus in the form of caroling competition, Christmas parties for the underprivileged and other seasonal activities.

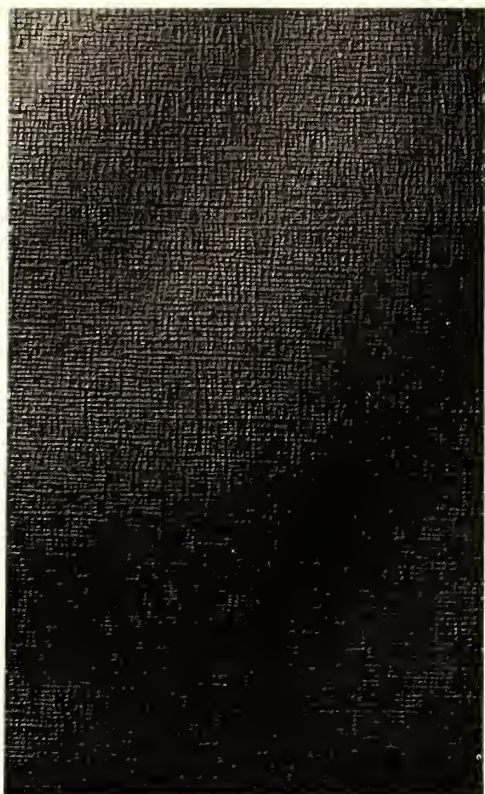

Before vacation, however, came the much dreaded strain of final exams. An unfamiliar hush fell over most dorms as some students tried desperately to cram into their heads in one night what they had missed all semester.

The semester break came, was enjoyed by most, and went, and another semester was upon us. Back to classes, tests and Chickasaw once more.

All good things must come to an end as students return from the holiday.

Icy weather strikes ASU campus

Not all of the danger was underfoot as tree limbs proved.

It took a little more time to get to class.

Layers of ice created masterpieces.

THIS is a sled?

Winter weather, composed of rain, ice and chilly winds, hit the ASU campus later than usual this year. But once here, old man winter didn't let anyone forget it. Icy streets, trees and sidewalks were but a part of his constant reminders.

Students also discovered that the cold didn't cease inside many classrooms as the school complied with President Nixon's plea to turn down the thermostat.

Bundled up to meet the weather, whether in the classroom or outdoors, ASU students carried on despite a very unpredictable winter.

Dorm life . . . what is it?

When is that darn phone gonna ring! When is it gonna stop ringing? Wish they would turn their stereo down. Oh no! I have three tests tomorrow—anyone want to play cards?

These comments can be heard when ambling down the halls of the eight dorms at ASU. They are an essential part of college life.

There are occasional complaints, none too serious. But, all in all, learning to live together—whether you get along or not—is an important part of what the student learns in his college years.

Story of exiles told in "Anne Frank"

"The Diary of Anne Frank" was the mid-winter production of the speech and drama department.

The story of how the Jewish exiles from Nazi Germany lived in the "secret annex", as told by a thirteen-year-old girl to her diary, shows how the occupants passed their hours of self imposed silence, learned how to live in cramped quarters and most important—was the attempt to get along with each other. All attempts ended when they were captured.

Actors gave intensely dramatic and enjoyable performances. This proved especially true of the exuberant Anne, played by Debbie Benson and the group's leader Mr. Frank, played by Phil Smith.

Other actors were Mrs. Frank, played by Mary Meir; Margot, played by Terry Daniel; Mr. and Mrs. Van Doan, played by Mike Mallot and Mary Jameson and their son, Peter, played by Bob Simpson and Mr. Dussel, played by Garry Hendrickson. Cathy Lear played Miep and Mike Smith played Mr. Krazler.

Walter Strong, first black to graduate from ASU, speaks to students.

"A Raisin in the Sun," was presented by the Dramatic Club of UAPB.

Lorraine Hansberry's "Raisin" entertained ASU blacks and guests.

A BSA dance concluded the week.

A beauty pageant, guest speakers, an art exhibit, a panel discussion and other activities highlighted the annual Black History Week at ASU, February 8-16.

The special week, sponsored by the Black Student Association, began with the annual Ebony Queen pageant. The winner, Gladys Alexander, will represent ASU in the regional Miss Black Arkansas competition.

Speakers for the week included Otis Higgs, presiding judge for the Elton Hayes trial in Memphis, Tenn., and NBC newscaster, Art Gillium. Walter Strong, the first black to graduate from ASU, spoke about ASU when he was a student.

A BSA recital, tracing black gospel music from its origin to the present, an Afro-American art exhibit and an Afro-American fashion and talent show also highlighted the week.

"A Raisin in the Sun," a presentation by the Dramatic Club of the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff, was performed during the week. Mrs. Gretna Douthet, an ASU graduate, sponsored the New York Drama Critics Circle Award winning play. The play was written by Lorraine Hansberry.

Music department presents operas

On Feb. 28 and March 1, the Division of Music presented an evening of operas. The program consisted of Menotti's "The Medium" and a portion of Act I from "The Barber of Seville," by Rossini.

Menotti's opera was a dramatic tragedy concerning a fake spiritualist caught up in conflict between her two worlds. Cast members included Andrea Hicks, Paula Shaneyfelt, Roger Bumpass, Elizabeth Flannigan, Linda Brannon, Jane Ledgerwood and Carroll Rayburn. Cary Bigelow was the piano accompanist.

"The Barber of Seville" was basically a comic boy-meets-girl situation. To complicate the plot, there was an interfering guardian with designs on the girl's dowry and an over-zealous barber who likes to turn a profit on every venture.

Featured in the cast were Noel Schaffer, Steve Walker, Leslie Galloway, Nancy Malone, Judy Jones, Randy Erwin, Steve Brown, Winston Turpin, Jeff Haddox and David Willard. Dennis Hay was pianist.

David Niederbrach directed both operas.

New complex to enhance studies of agriculture

A new building complex is under construction for the College of Agriculture, which will be occupied either in the fall of 1974 or the spring of 1975. The complex will cover about 67,800 square feet and will house all the College of Agriculture, including Agricultural Engineering.

The research facilities of the college are being expanded in order to improve its instructional program and to expand its services to the University community. Recently, an advisory council, composed of persons in agricultural business, was formed to advise the college.

With these developments it is believed that it can better prepare people to take advantage of the vast employment opportunities in the great agricultural complex, including: agri-business, agricultural industry and agricultural services which employs 34-40% of the total labor force of this country.

Grad programs approved for College of Education

During 1973-74 the College of Education was notified that all programs at the baccalaureate, masters and specialist degree levels were fully accredited by NCA. New programs with majors in psychology and early childhood education were begun and authorization for a graduate program in speech pathology was gained.

Ground was broken for a new physical education complex and the Arkansas State University Clinical Services Center was opened at the Arkansas Services Center.

Program improvement was emphasized by the faculty and the Instructional Media Center was opened. Students and graduates continued to bring distinction to the college and to the University. Two notable examples included Jennifer Peters, who was elected governor of the Arkansas Student Council for Exceptional Children and John Skinner, who was elected national president of the Student National Education Association.

College of Fine Arts stress individual talent

Development of individual creative talents and appreciation for the Fine Arts is emphasized in the College of Fine Arts.

This has been done this year through student participation in plays, operas, debate tournaments and art exhibits and activities.

Dramatic productions this year include "Inherit the Wind," "The Late Christopher Bean," "The Diary of Anne Frank," and "A Man for All Seasons."

The Division of Music presented two operas during the spring semester. They were "The Medium" and "The Barber of Seville."

Expedition provides learning experience

This year the College of Liberal Arts, under the direction of a new dean, sponsored several projects that brought distinction to both itself and Arkansas State.

Over the Christmas vacation, Dr. William V. Davidson and ten ASU students went on a geographical expedition to British Honduras. These students lived with the Black Caribs, an ethnic group, for the purpose of studying their culture. Besides gaining a learning experience, the students earned three hours credit.

Another project sponsored by the college was a French Festival. The festival was held in April to inform people in the community and students of the French culture and of the language department at ASU.

ASU's College of Science provides background in the biological and physical sciences and in mathematics for students preparing to work in industry or science related occupations, professional schools or who plan to pursue graduate studies.

Biology's Tri Beta, an honorary society for students of biology, annually sponsors Earth Week on the ASU campus. This year the group collected shade trees to landscape the John D. Gray Memorial School in Jonesboro.

The biology, physical science and mathematics departments jointly sponsored a field day in the sciences. The day, organized to inform high school students about opportunities in the science fields, featured displays, demonstrations, video tapes and information booths.

One of the newer courses offered by the college has been the glass working class. It is a three hour course designed to give the student experience making novelty items as well as scientific equipment.

Dr. Adelma Mooth, Head of the Nursing Division

Under the direction of a new dean this year, Dr. Adelma Mooth, the Division of Nursing is the fastest growing area in the University. The division offers an Associate in Applied Science degree for a two-year program, and has been authorized to begin a four-year program which will award a Bachelor of Nursing degree.

By this time next year, the division will occupy newly renovated State Hall, a former men's dormitory, for its headquarters complete with offices, classrooms and laboratories.

Military Science division assists local boy scouts

Apart from regular courses in Military Science, the division sponsors many activity groups. The Counter Guerillas, one group in Military Science, sponsored a candidate for homecoming queen this year for the first time and their candidate was elected to the court.

Counter Guerillas also joined in drill competition this year. They came in second in the competition against other universities.

The division has also been active in community relations. Work with Boy Scouts has been one of the activities, as well as clean-ups in tornado damaged areas of the community.

Graduate school adds new courses

There are several new developments in the Graduate School this year. One of which is its attainment of full accreditation, making it a mature university graduate school. Among other developments was the addition of a new graduate course in Early Childhood and the approving of a new course in Speech Pathology.

Dr. Eugene Smith, Dean of the Graduate School

. . . Until goodbye

Commencement exercises were performed May 11, 1973 in the Indian Fieldhouse.

Guest speaker was Dr. Patricia A. Thrash, an assistant executive secretary for North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in Chicago, Ill.

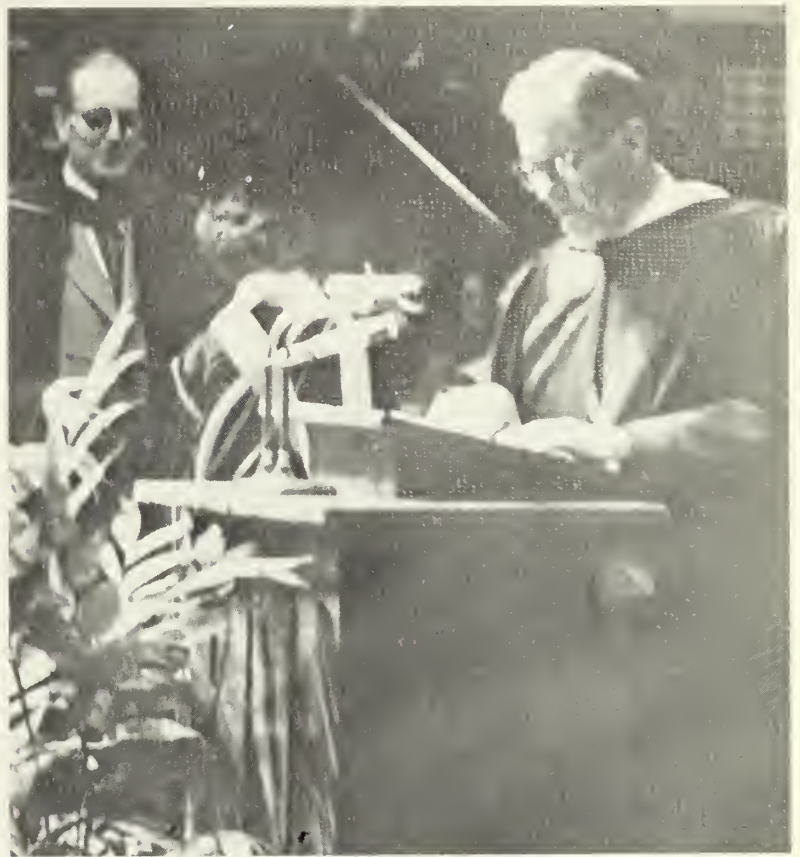

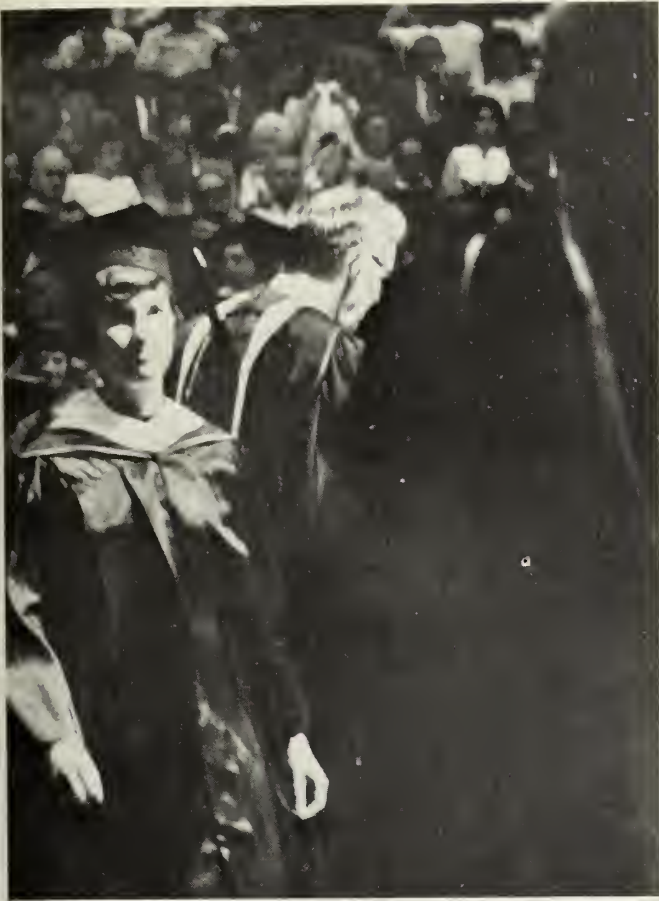

Students completed a long, hard task. For some students it could be described as an "end and a beginning."

There were 748 graduates. In addition to Bachelor degrees, there were 86 Associate, four Specialist and 95 Master degrees given.

Dr. Thrash addresses grads

We who dare, care and share awhile

We dare, we care and share awhile . . .
"From hello . . . until good-bye."

This is my second time around with yearbook editing. Both times I have started with an inexperienced staff. Yearbook productions have enough problems without a green staff. This year, though, I was blessed with one of the most devoted, concientious staffs an editor can hope for. I extend a very special thanks to each person, especially my editors and photographers, who put a lot of themselves into this project. We have been successful--success being that the book got out at all. Whether we accomplished the task of making this the editor's dream--a book different from any other--is subject to the opinion of each and every person that explores its pages. We feel like it is--because we did it and there is not another staff like ours.

Also, a special thanks to our dear adviser--dirty old man Tom Manning--and his News Bureau staff--for the long hours of tedious work they did in effort to help us get the book out.

A tribute to L. W. "Tex" Plunkett for 38 years of service

L. W. "Tex" Plunkett, a man who has probably started more people on their way in journalism and related fields than anyone in the state, will retire from active teaching at ASU.

In his 38 years of service to ASU, Tex has seen the journalism department that he founded become a division and then the College of Communications.

For years Tex, the first winner of the Wilson Award back in 1934, taught in the English department and sponsored The Herald. In the past he has headed up the News Bureau, handled sports information, served as chairman of the Athletic Committee and chairman of the independent Division of Radio-TV, Journalism and Printing.

Tex has been winner of many awards. Among them are a 1963 Arkansas Education Association award for 25 years of dedicated teaching, a 1963 Arkansas State College award from journalism students and alumni, a 1967 Arkansas Press Association award for dedicated and meritorious service to Arkansas journalism and a 1969 National Collegiate Association College Football Centennial Award.

In 1967 a fund was started to institute a Tex Plunkett Scholarship to be given to an outstanding freshman journalism student.

Also, in 1970, the ASU chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi, instituted the L. W. "Tex" Plunkett award, presented each year to an ASU senior who has demonstrated the most service in journalism.

Dr. Joel Gambill, chairman of the Division of Journalism and Printing and a former student of Tex's says of Tex, "I really don't know how we will ever be able to replace Tex. His value to this division and the University is not something that can be measured. He has devoted his life to this school."

Dr. Carl R. Reng, president of ASU says, "Tex Plunkett has been a faithful, dedicated and most competent professor at Arkansas State University for a great many years.

"His loyal service and inspiration will always be remembered by his associates and be embedded in the hearts of his students."
